NEW TAXATION PLAN FOR B.C.'S SCHOOLS DEBATED

Hinchliffe Tells Union of Municipalities He Plans Changes

Harrison Hot Springs, B.C., Oct. 16.—Far-reaching changes in British Columbia's system of school taxation, which he hopes will put it on a more equitable basis, were forecast by Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, in an address read before to-day's session of the Union of B.C. Municipalities' convention here by his secretary, F. G. Barr.

Unable to attend the municipal convention on account of illness, Mr. Hinchliffe sent it a message in which he intimated he would shortly make recommendations to the Government covering the entire field of school taxation. These recommendations he did not divulge, but in an analysis of the present system of financing schools he showed he regarded it as inequitable in the extreme and too onerous on the land owners.

CABINET SPEEDS ITS HEARING ON FREIGHT RATES

Arguments of B.C. and Other Provinces May Be Completed in Ottawa To-day

Ottawa, Oct. 16.—The two appeals for reduction in railway freight rates on prairie grain and grain products westbound to British Columbia and reduced freight rates on fruit from British Columbia to the prairie provinces are being heard by the Federal Cabinet, with some prospect the arguments will be concluded to-day.

Yesterday it was agreed on request of a majority of counsel to postpone until December hearing of the appeal of the Governments of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan. To-day, when G. G. McGee, K.C., had finished his argument on behalf of the United Farmers of British Columbia, who had filed a prior appeal, it was decided to proceed with the Provincial Governments' appeal as well.

MOTION REFUSED

A motion by A. B. Hudson, K.C., representing the Province of Manitoba, that the question of the mountain differential be excluded from argument until a later date was not allowed by the Cabinet.

The Provinces of Manitoba and Ontario and the two railways are opposing the appeals as well as the city of Winnipeg and the Winnipeg Board of Trade.

FISHERIES MEN STUDY RESULT OF NEW RULING

TEXT AWAITED

Major J. A. Motherwell, chief supervisory officer for the Department of Marine and Fisheries on the Pacific coast, this morning said no official interpretation would be possible until the full text of the Privy Council decision was received at Ottawa about a fortnight hence.

ACT OF 1914

One unofficial interpreter of the dispatches said the Federal authorities might hope to retain their licensing powers in regard to fishermen as a result of the amendment passed at the last session in Ottawa. The ground for this belief lay primarily, he said, in the fact that the cables mentioned Section 7-A of the act of 1914 and not Section 7 of the amended act.

On the other hand it was also pointed out that if Section 7-A gave the Minister control over licenses and was held ultra vires, so must an amended clause giving even more discretion to the Minister also be ultra vires.

The number of licenses granted to Japanese of British Columbia has been reduced year by year until now it is believed they hold only twenty-four per cent of the total number issued, as compared with approximately forty-nine per cent some years ago.

B.C. TO FORE IN PENSION SCHEME, SAYS TOM MOORE

"British Columbia has had Federal old age pensions longer than any other province in the Dominion," said the spokesman for Canadian labor. "Other provinces have followed British Columbia's lead with the exception of Quebec and the Maritimes."

NEW BRUNSWICK IN LINE

"Premier Baxter of New Brunswick announced recently at St. John that a commission would be appointed, on which labor would have representation to report on the feasibility of putting old age pensions into effect in that province."

"Even in the Province of British Columbia," went on Mr. Moore, "many pensioners do not enjoy the full benefits of the scheme because of the provisions of the act which fixes the liability of the Province in proportion to the period of residence in the country. Therefore, those who have not lived twenty years in Canada, as provided by the act, are deducted accordingly."

IMMIGRATION NOT OPPOSED

"In respect to the problem of immigration," declared Mr. Moore, "labor has never been opposed to immigration, but it is definitely opposed to subsidizing immigration and the importation of contract labor to occupy jobs that should go to workers already in the country."

"We believe that the major activities of the Federal and Provincial Governments should be directed towards colonization and steady maintenance that those already in the country should be accorded the same assistance as those coming in."

When that is properly done immigration will take care of itself. "The Trades Union policy," continued Mr. Moore, "has always recognized that progress would be facilitated through immigration when properly regulated, but immigration should be restricted at all times to such numbers and races that can be absorbed in our national life, and for whom opportunity for reasonable employment should be given without displacing the workers in the country."

INSURANCE INTERLOCKS
"Unemployment insurance interlocks with this question and if the major cost of such a scheme was assessed against industry it would create the same measure of stability in employment as the assessment of the cost of accidents in industry."

Asked his opinion of the recent overwhelming defeat of the Brown coalition by the Labor Party in Australia, Mr. Moore said the trades unionists of Canada were naturally gratified to see the success of labor in the Commonwealth. He pointed out that the labor movement in Australia was solely political, whereas the trades union movement in Canada and the United States was a medium through which the worker expressed their desires on legislation.

WIDE GRASP OF PROBLEMS

Mr. Moore has been the leader of labor in Canada for over a decade. He has participated in numerous international conferences, trade union congresses and a broad grasp of world business as well as world labor problems. On the agenda of the Kyoto conference which are of primary importance to labor, he said, "I am only one of many Canadian representatives representing different branches of Canadian life, ranging from labor to bankers, who will attend the conference, and I expect to learn a great deal while there," said Mr. Moore.

"I may be able to contribute something in the name of Canadian labor to a solution of the problems ahead of us."

The conference will discuss international aspects broadly and hopes to minimize race conflict by building up confidence among the nations.

"It is imperative that the industrialization of the Orient should be carried out on such lines as to raise the Oriental standard of living to a parity with that of the Occident," he declared.

"If Japan and China will so develop their resources as to assure a decent living in their own countries for the people of those countries, there will be no need for war," said Mr. Moore.

OVER-POPULATION

"There is to be a discussion at Kyoto of the problems of over-population and under-population. If you glance at a map of the world, it may seem that Canada is under-populated, but that Japan is over-populated."

"In a way that is true, if you measure population by the number of persons to the acre in a country. But, as a matter of fact, Canada is one of the over-populated countries of the world to-day."

"The moment your industrial structure is in such a condition that unemployment is common, you have over-population. The increasing use of machinery on our farms and in other branches of industry, combined with the smallness of the crop this season, has forced thousands of men into the cities."

"Until our industrial organization finds room for those men, at a Canadian standard of living, we are over-populated."

STANDARDS OF LIVING

"Canada has, normally, one of the highest standards of living of any country of the world and, on paper, our rate of employment is higher than there are more workers in Canada than ever before, there are also more unemployed."

"We are gratified to witness the success of labor in Great Britain, Australia and in other countries of the world, and we feel confident that the labor party will acquit itself as creditably as any other party can possibly do."

MACDONALD'S VISIT

Canada's labor leader declared that this country welcomed the visit of Rt. Hon. J. Ramsay MacDonald, British Labor Premier, who has just arrived at Ottawa following his conversations with President Hoover in Washington.

He said that Canadian labor was delighted with the sincere stand the British leader had taken in the interests of world peace.

WORLD INFLUENCE

Mr. MacDonald's efforts to promote world peace will have a direct and powerful influence upon the whole world, Mr. Moore believes.

"Labor knows MacDonald is sincere," he said, "and labor knows there is less danger to international relationships through peace than there is through armaments."

"I expect that conversations between MacDonald and Hoover will have a strong effect on the Pacific relations conference at Kyoto."

"If the lead being established in international relationships to-day by Ramsay MacDonald and Herbert Hoover can be followed out, if problems of international importance can be considered sanely and sincerely, in a spirit of peace rather than a spirit of war, many of the most intractable problems of the world will be much nearer settlement," said the Canadian Labor leader.

Ramsay MacDonald, said Mr. Moore, is a man of kindly disposition and a genius with an amazing grasp of world affairs.

Speaking of his kindness and tolerance, he said: "It is the inherent quality that makes Ramsay MacDonald so popular with all classes."

PRESTIGE RE-ESTABLISHED

"The activities of Britain's Labor government should remove for all time the doubts regarding labor to govern," went on Mr. Moore.

The Labor government has re-established the prestige of Great Britain in international affairs, which from my personal observations in Geneva, had sadly deteriorated within the last seven or eight years."

The policy of the British Labor government had been, "we are not only speaking, we are going to act." This had been conclusively demonstrated by Ramsay MacDonald at Geneva and Washington, and by Philip Snowden at The Hague.

Mr. Moore said that the Pacific Relations Conference would be more or less informal. It was not intended to make any agreements which would be binding on the parties to the discussion.

"But," he emphasized, "I hope the delegates will be able to talk all the more freely on that account. After all, international agreements are usually the fruit of a compromise."

"What we want to find out at this conference is how all countries, bordering on the Pacific, including the United States and Russia, which are not members of the League of Nations, can best work together for the same development of world industry and of world peace."

There is only one solution to the Oriental problem in Canada, Mr. Moore claims, and that lies in the industrial development of the Orient in such a way that Orientals will be able to live as well at home as they can in other countries.

REVOLUTIONARY SOLUTION
"Wages will be all right," Mr. Moore was asked as he pictured the inroads of modern machinery in industrial progress to the elimination of human labor.

It will mean a radical and revolutionary reduction of working hours and increase in wages commensurate with increased purchasing power," declared Mr. Moore. "There will have to be fewer working hours, more pay and cheaper necessities of life."

It is a problem that has to be grappled with. "There is no evading it."

DIVER GOES DOWN

Diver Louis de Costa, of Yarrow's Limited, went down to fix the damage done to the bow of the ship by the blocks in the forward section. This was an interesting sight for those who watched. The diver was under water for over two hours and after another plank and wedges were dropped over the side of the attending scow as he worked slowly along the side of the craft, forming a perfect support for the damaged craft.

The pumps were stopped while Diver de Costa proceeded with his work, and were not put into operation again until the cradle for the bow was completed. With the ship resting on the blocks, the powerful six-inch pumps of the dock were put into operation, and the water receded rapidly, taking less than an hour to empty the thirty odd feet of water remaining.

Marine surveyors commenced their work upon the hull of the craft when the floor of the drydock was dry.

IMPOSING SIGHT
The huge liner, with her beautiful lines and majestic superstructure, made an imposing sight as she was floated into the dock last night shortly before 7 o'clock.

His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor and Miss Helen McKenzie were interested spectators of the proceedings in the dockyard while large numbers of people who had waited several hours for her arrival stood at vantage points along the E. & N. Railway track.

Capt. Edward Griffiths, master of the ship, and Capt. George Roberts, the pilot, stood on the bridge together as the stately liner drew slowly between the cement walls of the dock. With precision and skill she was moved gradually to the end of the dock, brought to a stop within a few feet of the wall. The liner remained afloat in the dock throughout the night with lights playing on her shining white hull.

Visitors will not be permitted to enter the drydock until actual work has been commenced upon the ship. Capt. O. B. Parker, the superintendent of the dock, announced. While the ship is being worked on, the electric crane in operation along the side, crowds of sightseers and the giant liner draw slowly between the cement walls of the dock. With precision and skill she was moved gradually to the end of the dock, brought to a stop within a few feet of the wall. The liner remained afloat in the dock throughout the night with lights playing on her shining white hull.

ONLY ONE SECTION
The Empress of Canada is the largest ship yet to come to Esquimalt for dry-docking and considerable interest attaches to the event for that reason. The fact that the giant liner takes only two sections of the dock, leaving room for another vessel of nearly 800 feet in length, is worthy of note.

"The ship came into the dock beautifully and no trouble whatever was experienced in handling her," Capt. Parker stated this morning. The docking was in charge of Yarrow's Limited.

The 627-foot Empress fits into the larger section of the drydock with about twenty feet to spare at each end. The dock has a total length of 1,150 feet so that the outer section of the huge basin will still hold one of the ordinary size coastal vessels. It is possible that one of the B.C. Coast Steamship Service ships will be in the dock for repairs while the Empress leaves and, in that event, an unusual view will be afforded.

CARGO TAKEN OFF
While the fitting of the big liner on blocks proceeded this morning, unloading of some of the cargo was undertaken. A consignment of fruit from the after holds was the first to come out. Hoses and machinery used by the salvage vessel to pump the ship out yesterday forenoon were also taken off.

In shipping circles to-day, congratulations were being bestowed upon the operators for their expeditious work in getting the ship clear of the Albert Head rocks in such a short space of time. A fortunate spell of weather had much to do with the success of the salvage, it was pointed out this morning. From the time the liner went on the rocks until the time she was released, hardly more than a breath of wind came up. South and east winds were predicted for yesterday and the salvors worked against time to complete the task before a storm came up, which might have sent her farther on the jagged ledge and more seriously damaged the hull. Yesterday's predicted blow, however, did not materialize and the weather is remaining calm.

AN INADEQUATE EXPLANATION

DR. TOLMIE'S EXPLANATION OF THE removal of Mrs. J. H. MacGill as Judge of the Juvenile Court of Vancouver does not satisfactorily justify the Government's course. In his letter to the head of the delegation which waited upon him recently, urging the Cabinet to reconsider its action, the Premier points out that "by virtue of the amalgamation which took place between Vancouver proper and certain neighboring municipalities, the jurisdiction of police magistrates in those territories automatically ceased." All this may be true; but the Government reapportioned all the magistrates involved save Mrs. MacGill, who was told, a month after the amalgamation came into effect, that her services would no longer be required. In due time the Government appointed Miss Edith L. Patterson, a prominent Conservative worker in Vancouver and a defeated Conservative candidate in the general election of 1924, ostensibly on the ground that she had had legal training and experience.

It should be stated at the outset that the protest against the action of the Government in dismissing Mrs. MacGill is entirely free from politics. The delegation which waited upon Dr. Tolmie was composed of fifteen women, of whom thirteen were of the Conservative faith. In common with the attitude of many women's organizations in Vancouver and other parts of the province, the principal point in their objection is that a woman who had performed her by no means simple duties in the most efficient and impartial manner has been removed from office for no other reason than to find a place for a party worker. Dr. Tolmie's argument that it was desirable a person with legal training and experience be appointed to the position is, in the circumstances, unsound. The Judge of a Juvenile Court, dealing only with the cases of young girls, first of all must be a person of wide and sympathetic knowledge of human nature, preferably a mother herself, but at least one with an understanding of the youthful mind that no amount of legal training alone would furnish. Plentifully endowed with these qualities, and by no means a stranger to the law, Mrs. MacGill brought to her daily tasks the viewpoint essential to the efficient discharge of her duties. The women of the province who have persisted in their agitation for her reinstatement—who, through the head of the delegation which recently waited upon Dr. Tolmie, now announce that their efforts to right the wrong will know no respite—have put the mark of their approval on the work of Mrs. MacGill.

Dr. Tolmie declared before the election of last year that not a single person in the employ of the Government would be disturbed as long as he or she gave one dollar's worth of service for the dollar received in payment. He repeated this statement after he had formed his Government. The women of the province, therefore, naturally want to know why Mrs. MacGill was dismissed and succeeded by a prominent party worker without experience in the duties to which she was assigned.

SCHOOL TEXT-BOOKS

THE DESIRABILITY OF THE USE OF Canadian text-books in Canadian schools ought to be patent enough to require no argument. This is particularly so in the case of books on the history, literature and geography of Canada and her sister Dominions. But the requirements of a good, serviceable education necessarily must impose certain important restrictions upon such policies as Canadian educational authorities may adopt in regard to this matter. If we rejected foreign text-books merely because they happened to be foreign, without regard to their contents, we would be inexcusably handicapping our students.

Our output of these books naturally is bound to be limited for many years to come, for the same reason that our educational resources are still in the early stages of their development. We must not close the door to our students on the wealth of knowledge derived by other countries in art, literature and science from their much greater experience, and which can be adequately learned only from their own text-books. For example, it would be utterly folly to ban German text-books because only a few years ago we were at war with Germany.

If the selection of text-books in Canada is going to be determined by our likes and dislikes instead of by the requirements of an adequate modern education, we will fail in our duty to our youth. Education is too big a thing to be treated in a parochial way, and the nation which does not look upon it in its world-wide aspect, in the long run will fall behind.

Of course, text-books in which there is foreign propaganda should not be used in our schools. Nor should there be a place for text-books in which there is any propaganda, whether they are produced in Canada or not. There should be nothing in them which will create racial or religious animosity or bigotry in the youthful mind. That sort of thing breeds wars and revolutions; it is suicidal. Moreover, it undermines public confidence in educational systems. Incidentally, this is a subject which might very properly be left to those who have made a life-long study of educational requirements.

WHAT IS A CANADIAN?

WHEN THE UNITED FARMERS OF Ontario meet in convention at Toronto in December they will discuss the following resolution: "Be it resolved, That we petition our Federal Government to acknowledge the existence of a Canadian race by permitting the use of the word Canadian in the column of the census form headed 'Racial Origin.'"

From time to time this subject is discussed in the newspapers and by various organizations, and it is likely some provision in the census defining Canadians will be made in the next census two years hence. Meanwhile, however, a Canadian is clearly described in the Immigration Act as follows: "(i) A person born in Canada who has not become an alien; (ii) a British subject who has Canadian domicile; or (iii) a person naturalized under the laws of Canada who has not subsequently become an alien or lost Canadian domicile."

While this definition would appear to meet the case, it does not appear to work out as smoothly as one might suppose. For example, a Toronto man sending to the authorities the medical papers for his newly-born heir, wrote "Canadian" opposite the question, "What is your nationality?" The form eventually was returned to the Toronto man with the notation, "There are no Canadians," and again asking as to nationality. Then the battle of letters commenced in earnest, and the last thrust of the Toronto man was: "Darn you, I am a Canadian." An official of the Department of Colonization and Immigration at Ottawa now has explained the matter this way: "As to my nationality, I am a British subject. As to birth, I am a Canadian—a Canadian-born British subject. In race, I am Scottish."

This official further points out that a man may be a Canadian by birth, but when it comes to nationality he is a British subject. Nevertheless, there is no reason why officialdom should not recognize as a Canadian anybody who comes within the requirements set forth in the Immigration Act.

IMMIGRATION AND SETTLEMENT

first seven months of the current calendar year totaled 117,824, as compared with 109,379 in the corresponding period of 1928, an increase of 8,445, or nearly eight per cent. The outstanding feature was the greater movement from the British Isles, this amounting to 49,009, as against 32,905 in the seven months of the previous year, an increase of 16,104, or forty-eight per cent. The influx from the United States aggregated 20,460, as compared with 17,447, an increase of 3,013, or seventeen per cent. Movement from all countries declined to 48,355 from 59,027 in the period of the previous year, by 10,672, or eighteen per cent. In the seven months of 1929, 18,290 Canadians who had in previous years gone to the United States for permanent domicile, and lived there for periods exceeding six months, returned to the Dominion to make new homes.

In connection with the continued movement back to the Dominion of Canadians who have become permanently domiciled in the United States, it is interesting and significant to note that, according to the United States Government, there is a very consistent decline in the number of emigrants from Canada crossing into the United States. This is quite marked in the case of native-born Canadians, who do not come under the quota law, there being a decline of nearly twenty-five per cent. between 1925 and 1926, of seventeen per cent. between 1926 and 1927, of more than thirty per cent. between 1927 and 1928, and of twelve per cent. between 1928 and 1929. According to all reports, there will be a further substantial decline in the present year. On the other hand, there has been a rising tide of emigration of United States citizens to Canada since the Canadian fiscal year 1925, consistent annual increments making an increase between that year and 1929 of approximately 100 per cent. Indications are that the present fiscal year may be the best in the post-war period in this regard.

Homestead filings in 1929 have continued to run well ahead of the previous year, which was outstanding in the amount of free land occupied and made potentially productive. These, in the first seven months of the year, totaled 9,031, as compared with 6,738 in 1928, an increase of more than thirty-four per cent. This factor alone in the period accounted for the occupation of approximately 1,500,000 acres of virgin land, the greater part of it in the northern sections of the Prairie Provinces, where an active railway building programme is projected, and outstandingly in the Peace River country, which seems to have definitely entered upon a period of active colonization and development.

This active homestead filing has not in any way affected settlement on lands in developed communities, and all agencies engaged in such colonization report swelling interest in such intensive colonization. The Canada Colonization Association, very active in this regard, in the first seven months of 1929 exceeded its record of the previous year by placing 902 families on 97,940 acres of land, as compared with 416 families on 71,242 acres in the corresponding period of the previous year. A feature of this work is the increasing number of British families being located by the association, more being settled in the period than those of any other nationality. The greatest number of family placements took place in Saskatchewan, with Alberta running a close second and accounting for the largest provincial acreage settled.

WHAT OTHER PAPERS SAY

"CANADIAN" COMPANIES
The Manitoba Free Press

In these days when there is a tendency to try and make popular play of the fact that a company is "all Canadian" or "Canadian controlled" it is as well to recognize that this does not necessarily mean it is free from the powerful influence of Wall Street and Hollywood.

REFERENDUMS AND ELECTIONS

The Kitchener Record

We seem to be a peculiar kind of people here in Ontario. Every referendum on the liquor traffic that has been held in the province during a period of more than thirty years has resulted in a dry majority. At the same time, every party that has either advocated a dry policy or tried to enforce a dry law has been defeated at the polls.

Loose Ends

The epic case of M. Jules Pessant's her and M. Duminy's headlight—the perplexity of the French courts—the loss of Mr. Smith—the advantage of our system—and the prospects of our future

By H. B. W.

NOT SINCE the famous case of Bardet vs. Pickwick for breach of promise, or at least since the father of a small boy in Victoria sued a noted local barber because the lad's hair had been so abominably cut as to disfigure him—not since then have the courts of justice been called upon to settle a case so involved and difficult as that now raging in the French city of Toulouse. To understand the niceties of this matter, and they are well worth understanding, you must go back to the beginning.

LAST JUNE Antoine Duminy was driving his automobile through a suburb of Toulouse, where a hen belonging to Jules Pessant, a local horse-brother, became confused by the headlights, flew at them, broke one and then died under the wheels. M. Pessant, being a thrifty soul, demanded fifty francs or $2.04 compensation. M. Duminy refused to pay because the hen had smashed his headlight. The two disputants drove to a garage where the headlight was repaired for fifty-two francs or $2.12. Thereupon M. Duminy called upon M. Pessant to pay the difference between the value of the hen and the cost of repairs, which was two francs.

M. PESSANT, however, declined and M. Duminy at once sued him for the two francs. But M. Pessant, having had time to think things over, as we say, an ace up his sleeve. He filed a counter claim against M. Duminy for 150 francs, or $6, on the ground that the slain bird was a sitting hen and the eggs which would have been hatched were worth that amount, minus the two francs due on the headlight-repair bill.

EVEN THAT did not exhaust the Gallic genius of the two litigants. M. Duminy pondered for a while and then filed a counter-counter suit claiming instead of two francs, 250 francs for the danger which he said he had incurred by using a repaired headlight. There the case stands at present and the courts are waiting for M. Pessant's next move. That gentleman is expected to argue that the untold generations of poultry which would have sprung from his deceased hen ultimately would have been worth many times the value of the destroyed automobile, if their ancestor hadn't been blotted out before they could be hatched.

AND IN addition to that, if he should require a fourth counter-claim, M. Pessant will be able to plead the case of the bereaved rooster, whose feelings should be worth something, seeing that he lost not only his wife but a whole prospective family which he couldn't replace under three weeks. And surely a proper allowance should have been made to M. Pessant to cover decent burial for the deceased, even if she probably adorned the Sunday dinner table of the Pessant home. By Christmas, it is expected the case of the Toulouse hen will involve millions of francs and the cost of litigation probably will ruin both litigants.

ALFRED E. SMITH received 15,000,000 votes for the Presidency of the United States last fall. Now he is in private life and this vast constituency which wanted Smith more, perhaps even than it wanted his party, is without representation in the Government of the United States. These facts are attested by reviewers after reading Mr. Smith's biography "Up to Now," which appeared in The Saturday Evening Post and lately was printed in book form. They are stressed as showing a very serious weakness in the American political system.

UNDER THE British system a man who leads a defeated party, but yet receives a large minority support, remains a highly important part of the machinery of government. Moreover he may be called upon at any moment to form a government of his own without another election. In the United States, men like Mr. Smith who lead a great party and receive millions of votes, are side-tracked, usually permanently, and in Congress that party is led by smaller men who have no mandate at all except from the electors of their own districts. Instead of Smith at Washington to represent the people who do not believe that the Republican Party is inspired from on high, those people are represented by men for the most part undistinguished and in a national sense entirely leaderless, while Smith devotes his great talents to building a new skyscraper. This is the new Republican tariff bill shows, is hard on the minority.

SMITH IS not the only good man lost to American politics because his party did not receive a national majority. Taft and Roosevelt went the same way in 1912. McAdoo in 1924. Cox in 1920, and so on from the beginning. In Canada, Sir John Macdonald, defeated once, led the opposition and then came back to power. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, often defeated, led the opposition until his death, giving parliament the benefit of an experience which no other member enjoyed. Sir George Foster, often on the losing side, remained in the House continually until he went to the Senate. The contrast with the American system is so much in our favor that Mr. Smith himself suggests that the defeated presidential candidate be given a seat in the Senate where he could lead his party and offer some effective criticism of the majority.

MORE INTERESTING than politics in Mr. Smith's book are his memories of early New York, a small city with neighborhoods where everyone knew everyone else; when "every funeral and every wake was attended by the whole neighborhood;" when the East River was so free from its present pollution that the boys of the East Side used to swim in it; when Washington Square was a swaggy residential district flanked by imposing mansions. Some other author whose name escapes me, has also written a book on this subject and the goes back further, to the days when Greenwich Village, now a dilapidated wilderness of brick and mortar, back of Washington Square, used to be miles out in the country; when the prosperous New Yorkers came there for rustic vacations and brought their milk from farms nearby; and up around Central Park was a wilderness.

THESE THINGS are hard to believe as you trundle down Fifth Avenue on one of their double-decked buses in a canyon of skyscrapers, along the route of old Manhattan's cow trails. I wonder if this will happen to Victoria some day? Perhaps in our lifetime, as doddering old men, we shall inform bored visitors that, as children, we used to gather starfish off the rocks of Macaulay Point where the Ford automobile factory now stands, that we played golf at Colwood in the heart of the existing residential district, knew Quadra Street when there wasn't a single skyscraper on it, and lived on Fort Street before the subway ran under it. And the visitors, of course will think that these are just old men's tales.

Navy Conference Note Is Sent To London By Japan

Tokio, Oct. 15.—Premier Yuko Hamaguchi today obtained the sanction of Emperor Hirohito for Japanese acceptance of the invitation to the five-power naval reduction conference in London. The text of the reply to the British note was approved by the Cabinet yesterday and was expected to be telegraphed to Ambassador Matsudaira in London late today.

MADAME CURIE IS VISITOR IN U.S.

The end of the voyage was described as follows yesterday by a reporter of one of the New York daily newspapers: "Timidly gazing about her in wonder, a little old woman in black came slowly down the gangplank from the liner Ile de France here today. The bustling, chattering crowd on the pier fell silent as her frail figure appeared on the deck above them. 'It's Madame Curie,' the whisper went around."

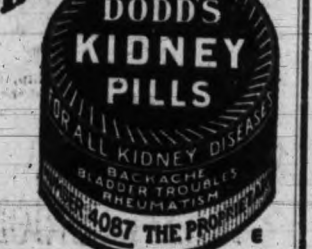

Her steps carefully guided by Ambassador Charles Gates Dawes, who had arrived aboard the same steamship from Great Britain and by Owen D. Young, who had come down to meet her, Mrs. Marie Sklodowska Curie, discoverer of radium, set foot for the second time on American soil.

So great was the concern felt for her that the commander of the Ile de France requested special wireless reports on the weather and was prepared to change the course of the ship to avoid running into rough seas. Her final public appearance in this country will be as guest of honor at a dinner of the New York committee of the American Society for the Control of Cancer on October 31.

WHAT causes decay? Germs. Germs, with tartar, are also held to be a chief cause of pyorrhea. Germs on the teeth—and there are millions—are difficult to reach. A dingy, glue-like film holds them in contact with the tooth's enamel. This film coat gets into crevices and stays. It clings so stubbornly that only a special film-removing tooth-paste can remove it satisfactorily. That tooth paste is the scientific formula called Pepsodent. Utterly different from every other, as you notice instantly when it touches your teeth. No pumice, no harmful grit. No crude abrasive, but a creamy paste so gentle that it is recommended for children's teeth and for tender gums. TWO VICTORIA BATTERIES IN FINE VICTORY

55th and 56th Heavy Batteries of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade Score

Governor-General's Cup Comes to Victoria For Fifth Consecutive Year

Confirming announcements made shortly after the Dominion-wide artillery competitive shoots in June, word has been received here of the success of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade in the annual competition for the Governor-General's and other trophies.

For the third time in five years the 55th Heavy Battery, under Major M. Kirkpatrick-Crockett, V.D., wins the Governor-General's Cup, for general efficiency. The same battery won the Gwatkin Cup, for efficiency of personnel, and the Turnbull Challenge Shield, for gun practice. Another Victoria battery, the 56th Heavy Battery, under Major J. B. Clearihue, M.C., also took ranking position in the competitive shoots, taking third in gun practice, fourth in efficiency of personnel, and third in general efficiency.

FOR FIVE YEARS
Between them the Victoria batteries of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigade have won the Governor-General's Cup for five consecutive years, as well as many successes before that date. Lieut.-Col. J. C. Harris, V.D., is in command of the brigade, which is a unit of the Canadian Garrison Artillery, an active militia force. The gunnery practices were carried out with six-inch and twelve-pounder quick firing guns.

Nine units competed in the Dominion contests in June, including the 55th and 56th Heavy Batteries of the 5th B.C. Coast Brigades; the 57th and 58th Batteries of the Q. and L. Brigade of Levis, Que., and the 51st, 52nd, 53rd and 54th Batteries of the 1st Halifax Brigade.

From 1920 to 1922 Victoria batteries have won the blue ribbon trophy of Canadian Garrison Artillery shoots in consecutive victories. Previous to 1923 the same honor came to this city on a number of occasions. Great credit is given to the officers and personnel of the winning batteries, and also to the instructors of the Permanent Force whose diligence has contributed much to the success of local efforts.

PROTEST STOPS RATE INCREASE

Chamber Representations Block Higher Freight From Antwerp

Protests of the Victoria Chamber of Commerce against the proposal of the North Pacific Conference to add an extra charge on goods shipped from Antwerp to Victoria have met with success, according to information received by George I. Warren, managing secretary of the chamber.

The proposed increases would run as high as 400 per cent, despite the fact that many ships called at Victoria before visiting Vancouver. In reply to the protest the Royal Mail Steam Packet Company of London cabled the Chamber of Commerce yesterday as follows: "The Post-Terminal Continental Conference has decided in future to collect the actual cost of transshipping goods and forwarding same from Vancouver. Therefore, joint service vessels, delivering direct, will charge the same rates to Victoria as to Vancouver."

Previous to this new ruling there was a charge over the Vancouver rate upon all shipments under 1,000 tons. The immediate effect of the concession will be that all extra charges will immediately be removed on all shipments landed direct at this port, and there will only be an actual charge of rehandling from Vancouver on freight landed there by vessels not touching at this port.

BATTALION TO HOLD REUNION

Veterans of Forty-seventh to Gather at New Westminster October 26

The personnel of the 47th Battalion C.E.F. are organizing a reunion to be held at New Westminster on Saturday, October 26. The veterans of the regiment will deposit the regimental colours in the safekeeping of a church at New Westminster, and will follow this interesting portion of the ceremony by decoration of the Westminster War Memorial. In the evening a dinner will be served to some 500 surviving members of the battalion, who have signified their intention to be present from all parts of Canada.

Victoria furnished a large proportion of the officers to this regiment, which was, however, largely recruited and reinforced by Fraser Valley men and units, thereby making New Westminster a convenient assembly point for the first dinner. During the closing part of the war British Columbia was unable to keep up sufficient reinforcements to supply all the battalions they had in the front line, and as a consequence the 47th was re-allotted to western Ontario. This and various changes in command resulted in possibly more delay in organizing a reunion than occurred in other units that kept their identity throughout. Veterans from Montreal, Toronto and Winnipeg have signified their intention of making the trip to attend this function.

The 47th Battalion was organized by Lieut.-Col. W. N. Winsby of Victoria, with Lieut.-Colonel J. C. Harris at present commanding the 8th Regiment as his second-in-command. Other officers who were in the original unit were Lieut.-Colonel F. A. Robtson; Lieut.-Col. D. B. Martyn, at present commanding the Canadian Scottish; Major R. G. Montefelt, Major F. A. Richardson; Capt. H. Lettice, Major Philippe Baker, Major John Hope and Lieut. F. R. Wells. The non-commissioned officers of the battalion were largely made up from the staff of the 5th Regiment and the Gordon Highlanders of Victoria.

Colwood

The Colwood hall committee will hold their weekly card party Wednesday night. All residents in the district are invited.

C. E. Mitchell of Victoria will give a demonstration on the new way of cooking meat and vegetables at the regular monthly meeting of the Colwood Women's Institute Wednesday afternoon in the institute rooms at 2:30 o'clock.

The Rev. H. M. Bolton of St. Mary's Church, Metchohm, will conduct the harvest thanksgiving service on Friday evening, October 18, at St. John's Church, at 8 o'clock. Special music will be rendered by the choir.

The Sunday harvest thanksgiving service will be held in the morning at 11 o'clock at St. John's Church, the Rev. W. C. Gemmill of Metchohm preaching. There will be celebration of Holy Communion at the close of the service.

An excellent programme has been arranged for the harvest home social in Colwood Hall Monday evening, October 21, at 8 o'clock. During the evening the fruit and vegetables used in the church decorations will be disposed of.

EUROPE'S HIGHEST

London, Oct. 16.—In thirty-two seconds it is now possible to ascend the highest elevator in London and view the whole city from a height of 180 feet. The new elevator, just opened at the Westminster Cathedral campaign, is claimed to be the highest and fastest in Europe. Before the elevator's installation, 11,000 persons visited the tower each year. It is expected this number will be greatly exceeded with the new elevator.

MOTOR HALITOSIS

COSTS MONEY

VILE smelling fumes from the exhaust give the first warning of approaching engine trouble and costly repair bills. The engine is suffering from Motor Halitosis, caused by sulphurous corrosives in the gasoline; if this condition is not corrected it will quickly lead to corroded and pitted valves and bearings... and a big bill for repairs. Avoid these troubles by using pure gasoline.

Sulphur-forming acids in the gasoline cause 60 per cent. of valve and bearing trouble. Look to your valves! If they show signs of corrosion, change at once to pure Home Gas.

Guaranteed free from

SIX TEAMS IN HOCKEY LOOP

Commercial League Makes Plans For Season; Two New Teams Will Compete

With six teams assured the Commercial Hockey League made its initial plans for the opening of the season next month at a special meeting of the executive last night at the Y.M.C.A. President James Adam occupied the chair.

It is hoped to hold the opening games on the last Friday in November. Two of last year's clubs the Army and Brilliant Tubes will be missing this season but their franchise will be taken over by Jones Brothers and the Western Sheet Metal Works. Rapco, Rink Rats, Pitt's and Pimley and Ritchie, four of last year's clubs, have already sent in their entry forms.

The league will most likely operate in two halves with the two winners playing off at the end of the season. The championship is at present held by Pimley.

In order to make final arrangements for the opening of the season and to elect officers for the year, another meeting will be held at the Y.M.C.A. on Friday night at 7 o'clock.

Courts to Rule On Property For The C.N.R.

London, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press Cable)—A decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council handed down here today is that the merits of the case of the Dominion Building Corporation against the Federal Government must be argued in the courts.

It is held the reference of the matter to the Exchequer Court of Canada in 1926 during the short term of the Meighen Government was a valid reference.

The case arose out of a contract to purchase property at the corner of King and Yonge Streets, Toronto, for the erection of a twelve-story building for the Canadian National Railways. The Government later terminated the contract and the King Government decided the reference to the Exchequer Court of Canada was not binding and should be withdrawn.

This view was not concurred in by the Exchequer Court but was upheld by the Supreme Court of Canada, and now the Privy Council has upheld the judgment of the Exchequer Court.

The Woman's Day

By ALLEN SUMNER

Guessing at the matter, I suppose there may be a million women in love with Rudy Valle—whose hearts have been won by his romantic, yearning songs.

But I am afraid he will remain a bachelor unless he can temper his requirements in his ideal wife, which he sets down quite calmly in a magazine article under his signature. For he demands quite a lot.

"Her face and form must be beautiful," says he. "That's not so hard. There are lots of pretty girls, and there are beauty shops and French corsets. He won't have so much trouble there."

"I want her to realize that if any leeway is to be given on either side of marriage, the man is more privileged to have it than the woman."

Yes, yes, go on.

"I want her to love me more than anyone else in the world—to love me when I'm right and when I'm wrong."

And if she loves him when he does not deserve it, it will be all to the good, he allows.

NO BREAD WINNERS!

A girl that insists on paying her own checks or in making her own way in the world, is out. He wants one that will snuggle in his arms, demanding and needing protection.

When she dances with other men, he wants her to show reserve—yes, frigidity. But when she dances with him—the sky is the limit. He wants her eyes to glow with an alluring light and he wants warmth and consciousness of his presence.

By this time, most women will realize it is just as well they married the man they did marry—that holding out for Rudy would have been futile. But there are more requirements.

The ideal must have patience and understanding, and let him alone when he wants to be. She must love him when he is grumpy and gloomy (fancy that—what a thought that Rudy has his grumpy, gloomy moments!) She must look charming while he is in a temper, and he admits he is terrible when he gets mad.

BRAINS? NOT ESSENTIAL.

Rudy admits he's not sold on the smart woman if she wears her brains on the outside. If she has charm and looks, and is crazy enough about him, she can go easy on the grey matter.

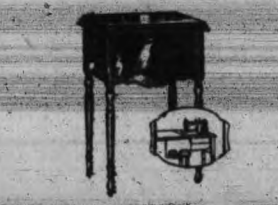

If Rudy is really expecting to find such a girl, he will never find her except in his own mind. Fortunately only an ideal, carefully cherished, and never incarnated, could ever fill the bill.

Other young men have put in such an order, and in accepting the substitute offered, found the high degree of adventure and hazard involved in matrimony.

If one did not know that Life had its own neat way of showing up its mortals in our folly, one might hope Rudy found this dream girl, married her, and experienced that bitter irony—to get what you want—and then not want it at all, and realize that you had the wrong idea all the time.

Fate has allowed us all this slight amelioration: instead of getting what we want, most of us take what we get. So we can erect this defence for ourselves: well, this was never my idea, anyhow.

There is no danger Rudy will find his ideal, so he can always keep her enshrined in his heart. And he will never need to know how dull, colorless, boring and unintelligent she would be. His masculine vanity need not be disturbed by knowing that he was all wrong.

NEWSPAPER HAS OWN AEROPLANE

The Des Moines Register and Tribune to which Iowa pays $2,500,000 annually a year in subscriptions supplies a district of 250 miles daily with a feeder truck to take the paper to outlying districts receive the same service as those in the city. Hugh B. Lee, advertising manager, states in speaking with pride of the newspaper he represents.

Mr. Lee has included Victoria in a pleasure trip of coast cities. He arrived in Victoria from California yesterday. The Register and Tribune is published as a morning and evening paper without competition in the district. It has its own aeroplane which it uses for news gathering and recently sent a photographer by plane to Kansas to secure pictures of the Great Zepplin which were published in the same day's issue.

To deliver papers to its extensive and scattered circulation field it uses a motor truck which travels 250 miles and is met by feeder trucks.

CANADIAN CLUB REVIEWS YEAR'S SPLENDID WORK

1,281 Women Belong to Club; Reports Show Healthy Finances; New Executive

Mrs. C. C. Spofford Tells of Recent Convention Held in Quebec

Closing the year with a paid-up membership of 1,281 and a balance in the bank amounting to $99.56, the Women's Canadian Club held its annual meeting yesterday afternoon and reviewed with much satisfaction a year of notable progress. Mrs. C. C. Spofford presided at the gathering which was held in the Chamber of Commerce.

NEW EXECUTIVE
Mrs. P. B. Scurrah will be the new president for the coming year, with the other officers as follows: Honorary president, Miss Helen Mackenzie; honorary vice-president, Mrs. F. F. Tolmie; first vice-president, Mrs. W. G. Wilson; secretary, Mrs. A. Carmichael; treasurer, Mrs. R. B. Taylor. Balloting for the seven members of the executive resulted in the election of the following: Mrs. Herbert Penderay, Mrs. W. H. Rice, Mrs. D. B. McConan, Mrs. E. S. Farr, Mrs. P. E. Corby, Mrs. S. J. Willis, Mrs. William Ellis.

BOOK SELLING WELL
Reports of the president, secretary and treasurer occupied the earlier part of the proceedings. One of the most interesting items in the treasurer's statement was in connection with the expense of production of the club publication, "Pioneer Women of Vancouver Island," showing during 1928 and 1929 a total of $4,042.27, with sales amounting to $2,604.10. The work still on hand 473 copies, and on consignment 227. Membership fees during the year amounted to $954, and admission fees to $402.15.

CONVENTION REPORT
Mrs. C. C. Spofford, who recently returned from Quebec, where she represented the club at the annual convention of the association, gave an interesting and concise report of the proceedings, at which about 100 delegates had attended.

TEACHING OF CANADIAN HISTORY
The value of the club journal in furnishing an avenue for the discussion of matters of Canada-wide and Imperial interest was touched upon. The last issue, for instance, had given a splendid review of the 1st of June.

Former Residents Of Orient Here To Form Society
A number of local residents, who had formerly lived in China or Japan, met at 1496 Beach Drive, which was kindly lent to them for the purpose by Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Birnie, on Tuesday afternoon, to consider the question of forming a club or society for former China and Japan residents who had settled here.

One of the other special matters discussed at the conference had been the teaching of Canadian history in the schools of Canada. In this connection a questionnaire was being circulated amongst teachers and professors across the country, and from the replies it was anticipated that some pronouncement would be due soon.

Mrs. Peter McNaughton moved the hearty vote of thanks to Mrs. Spofford for her able report, and Mrs. Scurrah, on behalf of the club, presented her a beautiful bouquet of red carnations, supplemented by a letter from her devoted services to the club during her tenure of office. Mrs. J. H. Fletcher, seconded by Mrs. James Adams, voiced the members' appreciation of the work of the retiring officers and executive.

Miss Agnew announced that Dr. Netram, Hindu missionary, would speak at the meeting of the club to be held next Tuesday.

The auction was to raise funds to meet the debts of her youthful husband, Alexander Subkoff, Russian waiter and dancing master, whom she married against the will of her family. They were estranged later, only after he had involved her to the extent of about $250,000.

Part of the palace which once was hers has been let to private tenants, while the Princess herself, in disfavor with others of her family, has been reduced to four small rooms and a small pension at Mehlhorn-Rhine.

Among the treasures offered yesterday were not only articles of great intrinsic worth, such as silver and crystal services and sixteenth and seventeenth century furniture, formerly the property of the Kaiser Friedrich Museum at Berlin, but items of great historic and sentimental value.

Before and After Baby Comes

STRENGTH and tranquil nerves are most important during this critical period.

The mother should be cheerful. Her vitality should be high. For nature demands that she nourish two instead of one.

The expectant mother is usually weak and nervous, and often continues so after baby is born.

A reliable tonic is then of definite help, for labor and strain always deplete the body's supply of mineral salts.

Fellows' Syrup helps to replenish these, increases the appetite, aids digestion, and improves the general health.

Born in Canada—this fine old tonic is now prescribed by physicians in 58 countries of the world.

YOUR BABY and MINE

By MRS. MARY E. ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

WEANING SHOULD BE BEGUN AT NINE MONTHS, IF NOT SOONER.
Mrs. R.M.S. writes:
"You have been a great help to so many mothers that I feel confident in coming to you for advice. My baby is ten and one-half months old and breast-fed. He doesn't care to nurse much during the day, but he wakes often at night and won't go to sleep until nursed. I feed him some cereals and vegetables and I don't believe he needs to nurse so often. I tried to wean him but without success, as he would not go to sleep. Please offer a few suggestions as to how he should be fed after weaning."

ANSWER
You know the baby must be weaned so it is useless to say you can't wean him. Nursing should end at nine months, in many cases much sooner, and the longer the baby is nursed the more inclined he is to demand to be nursed. It is not wise to wean a baby who is used to nursing, but if you are determined to wean him, you must be prepared to feed him on a regular basis. The reason he wakes so often at night is entirely the result of his poor diet, and you cannot expect that his night habits will improve until you improve his diet. He now should be on milk feedings entirely, four meals only in daytime, with orange juice, well-cooked cereals, cod liver oil, and vegetables.

Though the question of under-nourishment, when nursing is prolonged, is a serious one, there is another phase of this which many mothers overlook, or of which they are entirely unaware. Growth is accompanied by constant change the first year. First, from six to five meals daily. From five to four, and then to three. From breast to bottle and back to bottle. Each period should be definitely broken off and pass untroubled into the next if the child is to develop from infancy to childhood as he should. When a baby who should be sleeping all night, is broken of nursing and he learns how to drink a cup, it is still at the stage equivalent to that of the average six-month-old child. You can easily see how you are hampering him physically, mentally, and emotionally.

Mr. Craigflower Road, on Tuesday evening. Three tables of bridge were in progress during the evening, prizes being: First, Miss "Tommy" Goy; second, Miss Isabel Alexander; consolation, Miss "Tubby" Barlow. At the close of the evening, dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses. Those present were the Misses Isabel Alexander, Jean Drysdale, Margaret Wilkie, Nina Ferguson, "Tommy" Goy, Mary Ross, Doris Benwell, Dorothy Ashman, Tubby Barlow, Olive Crummond, Audrey Bland, Evelyn Morrison, Jessie McGillivray and Ruth Hanson. Guides To Hold Swimming Meet On November 7

Plans for a swimming contest among girl guides to be held at the Crystal Garden on Saturday, November 7, were made at the monthly meeting of the local association of girl guides held in the headquarters, Monday evening, with Miss Wiley in the chair. The October report of the Victoria West division was given by Mrs. George Phillips, and the Victoria East division prepared by Mrs. L. A. Genge, was presented by Miss Wilson. Miss Leighton, divisional commissioner, gave a report of the camp held at Bradley Dyne. The association will be represented by commissioners and officers at the Trafalgar Day commemoration on October 31. Tares new members, Mrs. Macrae, Mrs. Watts and Mrs. Pratt, were welcomed at the meeting.

MACGILL STATEMENT BY TOLMIE IS CRITICIZED

Premier Tolmie, in an official letter to Mrs. F. Eaton, 1070 Devonshire Crescent, Vancouver, who headed the deputation, announces the reply of the Government as follows:

"The executive has given the most careful consideration to the representations made by yourself and your delegation on the occasion of your visit, and also to the material contained in the file submitted with your letter."

"It will be remembered that by virtue of the amalgamation which took place between Vancouver proper and certain neighboring municipalities, the jurisdiction of the police magistrates in those territories automatically ceased. Those magistrates were: H. C. Shaw, Police Magistrate and Judge of the Juvenile Court for Vancouver; J. A. Findlay, Deputy Police Magistrate for Vancouver; George B. McQueen, Police Magistrate for the Municipality of Point Grey; Paul McD. Kerr, Police Magistrate, Municipality of South Vancouver; Mrs. H. G. MacGill, Judge of the Juvenile Court (girls), Vancouver. WAS NOT DISMISSED."

"The operation of the statute simply vacated or abolished the offices held by the above named officers. There was in no sense and in no case a dismissal. It is desired that this aspect be clearly understood, because during the interview had with your delegation it was more than once erroneously stated that the above-named lady was dismissed."

"It became necessary accordingly to appoint magistrates de novo for the new jurisdiction, and H. C. Shaw, J. A. Findlay, George B. McQueen, Paul McD. Kerr and Miss Edith L. Patterson were installed. It is generally expected, in the public interest, that if at all possible, those appointed to the magistracy shall have had legal training and experience. A layman may reasonably be created a justice of the peace, or even a magistrate in some portions of the country, but in the cities and populous centres, where important questions arise frequently, it is not desirable to appoint lay persons. This principle particularly applies to the person presiding in a juvenile court."

"In the case of the Vancouver Juvenile Court, the Government deemed it in the best interests of the public to appoint a person of legal education, and a very capable woman, in the person of Miss Patterson, a qualified and practicing barrister and solicitor, was found to be available and was selected to fill the position. The information of the Government is that she is bringing to the discharge of her duties careful judgment, discretion and ability."

"Pending the appointment of Miss Patterson, the duties of the court, both as to boys and girls, were performed by H. C. Shaw, a gentleman of wide experience of law, endowed with a deep knowledge of human nature, and who is a gentleman of undoubted probity. It therefore cannot be said that the interests of justice suffered in this connection during the interim between the time Mrs. MacGill retired by virtue of the coming into force of the new law, and the time of appointment of Miss Patterson. It is quite clear to the Government that those interests have been well and ably served since Miss Patterson's appointment."

"After a full and careful review of the entire question, the Government feels that it has acted in the public interest, and that nothing has been presented which would justify a change in the course adopted."

"Yours faithfully,
"S. F. TOLMIE."

CATHOLIC WOMEN PLAN ACTIVITIES

Two-day Bazaar to Be Main Effort For November

Many plans for winter activities were discussed at the October meeting of the Victoria Subdivision, Catholic Women's League held last evening in the Knights of Columbus Hall, Mrs. W. McManus, president, in the chair. Mrs. Blair Reid gave the treasurer's report in the absence of Mrs. Hunter, also the secretary's report. Mrs. McManus reported for hospital visiting undertaken during the past month by Mrs. Howell and herself, and Mrs. Harry Hartnell volunteered as visitor for the month of October. The president reported the successful rummage sale and sale of home cooking held on Saturday last, Mrs. Cannon and Mrs. Grant being responsible. The rummage sale will be continued this Saturday at the old Kindergarten Building, Blanchard Street, when Mrs. O'Brien, Mrs. Blair Reid, Mrs. McManus, Mrs. Mahoney and Mrs. Kinsinger will be in charge.

BAAZAR PLANS
It was unanimously decided after some discussion of plans for the forthcoming bazaar, that there should be no other activities during the month of November, all efforts to be centred upon the success of the bazaar, to be held on November 29 and 30. Members were reminded of the silver tea on Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Howell, 2466 Cranmore Road, in aid of the bazaar funds, and Mrs. Blair Reid requested that any prizes received for the bazaar should be reported to her as early as possible. Rev. Father Evans spoke enthusiastically of the plans and thanked the league for their efforts in this connection, as well as in conjunction with the Welfare Club for the boys' school. A card social and military 500 will be held on Wednesday evening, October 23, in the K. of C. Hall for the school needs. The question of a new walk was dealt with.

SOCIAL SERVICE
Miss M. O'Brien gave a detailed and finished report of social service, dealing exhaustively with the work of the Sunshine Camp. The Big Sisters' Committee of the League had helped substantially in providing dishes needed.

and Miss O'Brien suggested that they take one cottage as their special charge, attending to the furnishings and upkeep. Miss O'Brien also brought to the attention of members the needs of the W.C.T.U. Home, with a message of thanks for a hamper received.

DIOCESAN CONVENTION

As diocesan president, she announced the coming convention to be held on Wednesday evening, October 30, at 7 o'clock in the K. of C. Hall, where after the reports of the various subdivisions and standing committees there will be addresses by the clergy and a special speaker, a musical programme and refreshments. The necessity of diocesan organization and active participation and follow-up work were stressed by Mrs. O'Brien, who said the time had now come for the establishment of the Junior League in Victoria and asked Rev. Father Evans to enlarge upon the proposed objective for the Junior members. This was shown to be an active participation in the work for the Sunshine Camp. Rev. Father Evans paid a rousing tribute to Miss Snider of the Social Service League, in whom he felt grateful for so much kindly sympathy in the needs of so many Catholic people who had shared the benefits of the camp.

An organization meeting of the Big Sisters' Committee, with Mrs. McManus, organizer, and Miss O'Brien, diocesan president, will be held in the near future to form the Junior League. Mrs. McManus was appointed captain, to name five lieutenants in the drive for the blind, of which F. Landberg is in charge in Victoria.

A number of formal students were welcomed to the meeting, which was followed by a social hour, and the students were invited to tea at Miss G. Hartnell's home on Sunday next.

The hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Kinsinger, Mrs. H. Hartnell, Mrs. Hunter and Mrs. O'Neill; for the next meeting Mrs. Wedd, Mrs. O'Connor, Mrs. Hourigan and Mrs. Service volunteered to act.

Mrs. O'Neill was appointed delegate from the Victoria subdivision to the Diocesan Convention, with Mrs. Blair Reid as alternate.

An entertainment at St. Ann's Academy by the Aquinas Club on Friday evening, when Joan of Arc will be presented by the girls of this literary association, was brought to the attention of the league.

St. Mary's W.A.—The afternoon branch of St. Mary's W.A. will hold a silver tea and sale of home cooking, Thursday, October 17, at St. Mary's Hall, Yale Street, Oak Bay.

THE SPORTS MIRROR

JACK KEARNS ridiculed the action of the National Boxing Association in declaring the middleweight championship "vacated" by Mike Walker through failure to defend it. But just the same, the N.B.A. forced Kearns to hustle around and sign up Walker within a week to fight Ace Hudkins with the title at stake in Los Angeles, October 26. After all that's a little boxing association wanted a little action in the middleweight championship line. Walker, fighting Hudkins, will be recognized as champion when he gets into the ring. He may not be champion when he gets out again.

The Walker-Hudkins ten round "non-title" fight in Chicago was a rip-roaring battle, even with no title at stake. In some places, the referee, referee, Hudkins would have been given the raised mitt for his rough, aggressive fighting. There are towns where that sort of "milling" goes. But Hudkins did a lot of fouling. He hit his wild anxiety to knock Walker out. He is one fighter who gives everything he has. The referee let him pull stuff for which an ordinary preliminary fighter would be thrown out of the ring. The referee knew the crowd is always with Hudkins because he fights. He goes forward on the run and never takes a back step. He's in there trying in his own style, every second of the time. He is tougher than a board, and he has no more regard for training rules than the late Harry Greb, but like Greb, he is always in fighting condition. Seeing Hudkins fight, a person would think he enjoys mauling and being mauled. In fact, he doesn't enjoy it as much as he seems to. Every now and then he announces that he is going to retire "pretty soon." But reports state there is no more in that other great fighter of the ring, Bat Nelson.

Hudkins hits continually, and he can hit hard. He has a good knockout punch. Walker is far more scientific, a cleaner fighter, and a harder hitter. But he is not as tough as Hudkins. At Chicago Mickey was very tired at the end of ten rounds, although still fighting at top speed when the last bell rang. Hudkins showed no signs of being tired, although he had been staggered by the other fellow. Walker's right hand clouts on the chin. In a finish fight Hudkins would whip Walker unless Mickey managed to put over the kayo punch in an early round.

They say Kearns demanded practically all the money for Mickey—something over $50,000. Mickey, who drew $20,000 for the Frenchman, which was more money than Carpenter ever had before. But Kearns could be generous to Carpenter. He knew there was practically no risk of Dempsey's losing the title.

Walker and Hudkins, fighting in Los Angeles, out of doors at the Wrigley Ball Park, should draw $200,000, which is probably more than they draw anywhere else in a ten-round bout. Both are extremely popular in Los Angeles. Hudkins has done all his best fighting there. They wouldn't draw much money anywhere else on the western coast, especially in San Francisco, where both have indulged in bouts based on strictly business lines. They wouldn't go well in Chicago or New York, or other eastern cities.

Jack Sharkey and Jimmy Loughran drew a gate of $250,000 all paid in by people who were curious about the ability of Loughran to sprint and tap his way to a decision. There wasn't any other drawing a side. But the real holdout got their money's worth in the rare spectacle of Sharkey putting up a real fight. Sharkey has done that, to date, once with Maloney, once with Willis, once with Jack Delaney, and for two rounds with Dempsey. One thing is sure about Sharkey. He certainly knows how to flatten the fattest up light heavyweights.

Mack Hero While Hack Wilson and English the "Goats"

Manager of World's Champion Athletics Is Most Heroic Figure on Philadelphia Club; Jimmy Foxx, "Mule" Haas and "Lefty" Grove Are Outstanding; Guy Bush Hero of Cubs Because He Pitched Them to Their Only Victory; Hornsby Was Batting "Bust."

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—The task of picking the hero of the 1929 world's series seemed to-day as difficult as it was trying to guess Connie Mack's starting pitchers.

There was one heroic figure after another down through the line-up of the triumphant Philadelphia Athletics. The three, perhaps, that stood out most conspicuously, after an analysis of the five games, were Jimmy Foxx, young first sacker, his bat played a big part in three of the four victories; George "Mule" Haas, whose freak home run was a crucial blow in the historic "lucky seventh" of the fourth game, and his second man-sized homer, the tying factor in the final contest; and Robert Moses "Lefty" Grove, whose southpaw speed saved two games and was ready for a third, only to have the distinction go to George "Rube" Walberg, another portside.

There was also, the chunky figure of Jimmy Dykes, with the highest batting mark of any of his team mates; Mickey Cochrane, who caught every game with marvelous skill; Al Simmons, the great left fielder, potent in both critical rallies of the last two games, and last, but not least, Edmond (Bing) Miller, veteran right fielder, who knocked in the deciding runs in the first game and the winning run with a $50,000 blow in the last.

Grove unquestionably would have been the outstanding hero had he been delegated to relieve Howard Ehmke in the last game and succeeded as Walberg did. Ehmke's first game heroics were not repeated or he might also have been the main bidder for the laurel wreath.

MACK REAL HERO

Perhaps, after all, Connie Mack was the real hero, for it was mostly for him that all these agile "boys" as he calls them, were outdoing themselves. The hero of the Cubs, from a pitching angle, was Guy Bush, the only winner of the series, but the only pitcher for the honor. Otherwise their greatest figure was pudge Hack Wilson, mightiest of a Cub clouting array that otherwise failed to live up to its reputation. Wilson, left batted at bat with 471. Yet Hack also was a "goat" for it was his dismal performance in losing fly balls in the last game that contributed largely to the A's startling comeback. Charley Grimm, clever first baseman, played brilliantly throughout the series and also hit hard. The batting "busting" was Rogers Hornsby, the seven-time Rajah of the National League hitters, who struck out eight times to lead the list of Cub strikeouts. The fielding "goats" aside from Wilson, was shortstop Elwood Riddle, with four errors. The summary of outstanding features of the games:

FIRST GAME

Won by Athletics 3 to 1, with Howard Ehmke's slow curves puzzling Cubs, producing thirteen strikeouts victims for a new world's series record. Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Browns, who resigned to manage the Reds in 1920. Well also announced the outright purchase of Harry Heilmann, slugger-outfielder of the Detroit Tigers. Howley succeeds Jack Hendricks, who resigned before the 1929 season closed. Word of Heilmann's sale as first evidence of a threatened shake-out in the personnel of the Detroit Tigers. Heilmann has been with the Tigers for more than ten years. Among the players said to be slated to be sold, released or traded in the rumored shake-up, with Heilmann are Harry Rice, Mervin Sheen, Johnny Prudden and Ed Phillips.

SECOND GAME

Won by Athletics, 9 to 3. Pat Malone, being knocked out of box in fourth inning after yielding six runs. Fox's second homer of series again started Cub pitchers' downfall in third frame and Al Simmons, dining in two runs in fourth and two more in eighth, equalled world's series record of four in one game. George Barnshaw, A's starter, wild and reckless in fifth by Lefty Grove, who held Cubs helpless rest of game, adding six strikeouts to Barnshaw's 7 for another Cub total of 13. Cubs used four pitchers, Blake, Carlson and Neff. Hornsby, manager of the St. Louis Browns, who resigned to manage the Reds in 1920. Well also announced the outright purchase of Harry Heilmann, slugger-outfielder of the Detroit Tigers. Howley succeeds Jack Hendricks, who resigned before the 1929 season closed. Word of Heilmann's sale as first evidence of a threatened shake-out in the personnel of the Detroit Tigers. Heilmann has been with the Tigers for more than ten years. Among the players said to be slated to be sold, released or traded in the rumored shake-up, with Heilmann are Harry Rice, Mervin Sheen, Johnny Prudden and Ed Phillips.

THIRD GAME

Won by Cubs, 3 to 1, on fine pitching by Guy Bush, who got out of several bad bounces and held two A's sluggers, Simmons and Fox, hitless. Hornsby, driving in first run and Cuyler, knocking in two others, snapped out their batting slump for first time. Barnshaw fanned 10, going full route, as he started second successive game. Cuyler's running stop and throw on Haas's hit holding apparently sure double to single in first was fielding feature.

FOURTH GAME

Won by Athletics, 10 and 8, with unprecedented rally in seventh, when ten runs and ten hits registered off four Cub pitchers as fifteen men went to bat. Simmons opened attack with home run and Charley Root, who had pitched shutout ball for six innings, knocked out after 7 1/2 innings, six hits by ten runs in eighth. Neff hit for freak homer by Haas to centre on ball Hack Wilson lost in ten, Blake for single by Fox that tied score and Malone, who pitched for the Athletics, double which brought in deciding runs. Simmons, Fox and Dykes each got two hits in this inning. Ten world's series records broken by A's outburst after Cubs had knocked Jack Quinn from box with attack including a homer by Grimm and five runs in sixth. Lefty Grove again saved game by checking Cubs in "last" inning, fanning four and running total of Cub strikeouts to 44. Nine pitchers worked altogether, five for Cubs. Fielding features were two double plays by Dykes, by Dykes and Root and Hornsby by Joe Boley. A's shortstop, in third inning, remarkable backward, running one-handed.

FIFTH GAME

Won by Athletics, 3 to 2, with thrilling ninth inning rally scoring all three runs after being held to two hits by Pat Malone for eight innings.

WRIGLEY IS NOW SEEKING DAZZY VANCE

Owner of Chicago Cubs Out to Strengthen Team For Next Year's Battle

Also After Third Baseman Whitney of Philadelphia; Cubs Welcomed Home

Chicago, Oct. 16.—William Wrigley, Jr., owner of the downhearted Cubs, promises some more interesting news items for the hot stove league this winter.

Back home from Philadelphia where his Brums absorbed their final world series knockout punches, Wrigley already is planning and looking forward to 1930. His big bank roll is out again and he is after one or two established pitching stars and a third-baseman who can hit as well as field.

Dazzy Vance, speed ball kind from Brooklyn, is reported to be one hurler Wrigley is desirous of buying while third-baseman Whitney of Philadelphia is also linked in the rumors flying around Cub circles.

Wrigley who refused to discuss the Rogers Hornsby deal last winter until it was sealed, admits a move is on to strengthen the Cubs for another National League pennant dash in 1930 and another try for a world title.

WILL BE STRONGER

"We'll be back next year stronger than ever and may be we'll have some breaks, too," he said.

"The Cub team, which received a rousing homecoming reception yesterday, was scattered to-day, while the business office began the task of making refunds for the sixth world series game that never will be played. A special window will be opened at the Boulevard Bridge Bank to-morrow and those holding tickets for the game will be reimbursed. Approximately $200,000 will be sent back to the fans.

New York, Oct. 16.—Philip A. Edwards, negro Olympic star and captain of the New York University track team, announced last night that he was married last Thursday to Miss Edith Margaret Oedelschlag, nineteen, a white girl. He would not say who performed the ceremony.

Edwards said they would live in New York until after his graduation next June when they would go to England for him to attend Oxford University. The bride, a former pianist, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Oedelschlag, of Weehawken, N.J. She was born in Alsace-Lorraine.

TWO TROTTING MARKS BROKEN

Hanover's Bertha Sets World's Record of 2.02 For a Mile

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 15.—Hanover's Bertha, owned by Hanover Farm, Hanover, Pa., and driven by Thomas Berry, lowered the world's record for a mile from 2.03 1/4 to 2.02, against time at a trotting horse breeders' meeting here yesterday. It was the fourth time the record has been broken here since September 30. Hanover's Bertha set the mark at 2.03 1/4 in the first heat of the Kentucky Futurity on September 30. Main McElwain lowered it to 2.03 1/4, in the second heat, and further lowered it to 2.02 1/4, October 7 in winning the Lexington.

Hollywood Harrod was driven a mile yesterday in 2.02 1/4, by Mrs. J. L. Dodge, wife of his owner, and this time was a world's record by a woman driver, the former trotting record for a lady driver being 2.05 1/4, by Palo Crea, driven by Miss Helen Davis of Vacaville, Cal. The mile equals also the world's record of 2.02 1/4 for four-year-old geldings made by Doane in 1928.

Rugby, Basketball And Hockey Will Hold Spotlight

Thirty-five Players Turn Out for Rugby Practices; Second Team Will Be Organized; Collegians Out to Defend Intermediate Title Won Last Season; Alfie Foubister Captain of Formidable Hoop Team; Girls Organize for Basketball and Hockey.

Encouraged by an enrolment of 275 students, Victoria College is looking forward to a successful season on the athletic field. Dave Ellis, skipper of the rugby team, has thirty-five players reporting for practice three nights a week and a second team is being formed to encourage the players who are not quite good enough for the first fifteen. College made an impressive showing last year in the intermediate league, nosing out University School by a narrow margin for the championship, and then went on to take two games from the crack University of British Columbia team.

Paddy Walton, former star forward of the University School first team and one of the best forwards in the league last year, is playing for the College, as well as Chuck Rustan, brilliant three-quarter. Other members are Bill Boorman, Victoria High School fullback, of last year; Larry Kennedy, who played fullback last year with the Canadian Scottish team; Eason Young, forward on last year's team; Teddy Robinson, half-back, from Oak Bay High School; Chuck Copeland, sprinting star, who played at High School last year; Chuck Hayward, who played last year, Sinclair, formerly of the Mount St. Mary's College; Sprinkling and Knight, from Oak Bay High, and Ray Grant and Ev Raynor, both of former High School teams.

GOOD HOOP TEAM

The boys' basketball team with Alfie Foubister as captain, has been practicing faithfully for weeks and is in good shape for games in the intermediate "A" section of the City League. Randy Tervo is coaching the boys and they are rounding into good form and should be in the running for the league title which they so narrowly missed last year. Lloyd Jones, outstanding forward with last year's Crescent team which won the league, will play for College this season. Other players are: Claude Russell, who played at forward for the team last year; and Fraser and Prior from the High School team of last year. Chucky Chapman and Bill White, who have joined Senior "A" company, are working out against the team and will probably take part in exhibition games as will Coach Tervo.

For the first time in many years the College will not be represented in the women's section of the City Basketball League. With many of the students playing for outside teams it was hard to get a team together but a call for material brought out many candidates who were willing to practice faithfully with the more experienced city leaguers with the result that a team was formed that will play exhibition games with the city teams and with out-of-town teams.

Grass hockey, which in the past has been one of the chief games for the girls, will again flourish as about twenty girls are reporting for workouts two nights a week. A number of last year's players are taking second year and will be available this season. They are Pat Copeland, Pat Brown, Margaret Young and Dorothy Johnson. While some of the new players are Bona McMurchie who has played a big part in High School athletics, Audrey Kinsman, from the same institution; Margaret Little, from St. Margaret's, and Rosalind Young, Sally Nixon, and Muriel Fisher from Oak Bay High School. The team play games with Victoria High, Normal, Oak Bay High and the Victoria Grass Hockey Club.

INDOOR TENNIS COURTS POPULAR

Leading Players Keeping in Trim on Fine Courts at Willows

With an increased membership and the new feature of having Badminton on the same night as tennis, the Victoria Indoor Tennis Club, with courts at the Willows, are making plans for their most successful season. Some members have worked out the light problem. The floors which in the past have discolored the balls, making visibility hard, have been washed and the backgrounds painted a neutral color. Red tennis balls will be tested to determine if they are easier to see and will probably be successful, as they appear to the eye as being a little larger than the ordinary ball.

Two doubles courts are in use on Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday and Sunday, while the members have the option of using the Badminton courts if they wish to. This move should prove popular and appeal to the members who like both games.

A number of the leading tennis players are playing at the indoor club as a means of keeping in form. Doreen Swayne, who was unable to take part in any tournaments last summer, on account of an operation, is playing regularly and hopes to make up for the lost play of the summer season. Reg. Corfield and Bud Hocking have also appeared, as well as Cecil Bird, and will play during the winter.

Victoria is fortunate in having an indoor tennis club as very few cities have proper buildings adaptable for tennis.

Anyone desiring information regarding the club can do so by applying to H. G. Bolt, 363 Michigan Street, or to Bud Hocking at 1410-12 Douglas Street.

Tommy Fielding Is Knocked Out By Fernandez

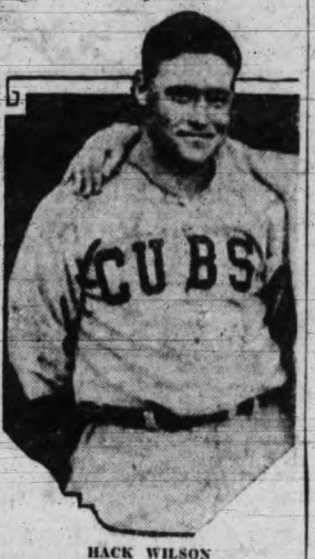

Los Angeles, Oct. 15.—Ignacio Fernandez, Filipino, was credited with a technical knockout over Tommy Fielding, Victoria, in the fourth round of their scheduled ten-round lightweight bout here last night, when Fielding, who substituted for Eddie Mack, Denver, took a stiff punch on the jaw and was unable to defend himself after spending nine counts on the canvas.

HACK WILSON LED BATTERS IN SERIES

Pudge Centre-Fielder of Chicago Cubs Had Fine Average of .471

Jimmy Dykes Leads Athletics With .421; Athletics Bat .281, Cubs .235

Philadelphia, Oct. 16.—Hack Wilson, considered by many the goat of the world series, was the leading slugger in the matches just concluded between the Athletics and Chicago Cubs.

HACK WILSON

Wilson, the centerfielder who lost three files in the burning rays of the sun on Saturday, which ruined the morale of the National League champions, batted .471, far surpassing every other player. He made eight hits in seventeen trips to the plate, seven singles and a triple.

For the Athletics, Third Baseman Jimmy Dykes, the handyman of Connie Mack's ensemble, was the star. Jimmy batted .421 and many consider him the "hummus" of the series, although the fans can never forget the thrill that Howard Ehmke's pitting gave them in the first game.

Nearly all the sluggers were up to par, with the exception of Rogers Hornsby, who batted only .238. Hazen Cuyler hit .300 and Stephenson batted .316.

Catcher Mickey Cochrane of the Athletics swatted at a .400 clip and Al Simmons hit an even .300. The Athletics batted .281 in the series and the Cubs .235.

H. W. Evans Wins Medal Round At Up-island Links

Duncan, Oct. 15.—H. W. Evans, champion, was the winner of the men's monthly medal competition, played on the Duncan links over the week-end. His gross score was 94, handicap 22, net 62. J. Dryburgh came second with gross 91 handicap 28, net 63, and E. W. Carr-Hilton third with gross 95, handicap 22, net 64.

Richard Shikat Is Declared World's Wrestling Champ

New York, Oct. 16.—Richard Shikat, Philadelphia, heavyweight wrestler, yesterday was recognized by the New York state athletic commission as the heavyweight wrestling champion. The action of the New York board was in concurrence with the recent decision of the Pennsylvania board, with which it has a working agreement. Gus Sonnenberg, the Boston grappler, is the rival claimant of the honor.

Doc Snell Wins By a Knockout Over Jackie Carr

Seattle, Oct. 15.—Doc Snell of 84, a lanky, tender, hammer on the chin of Jackie Carr of Hollywood in the third round of the feature bout of a double main event show here last night and the Californian took the full count, landing the junior welterweight class. Snell felled Carr in both the first and second rounds before he knocked him out in the third.

HOOPSTERS READY FOR FIXTURES AT Y.M.C.A. TO-NIGHT

Three Games Carded in Victoria and District League; Teams Appear Strong

All primed for their opening battles in this season's Victoria and District Basketball League, six quintettes are waiting the referee's whistle to set them in action at the Y.M.C.A. to-night. The first game, between Hudson's Bay and Keating, in the ladies' "B" division, will commence at 7:30 o'clock. This will be followed by an Intermediate "A" fixture between Victoria College and Victoria High. Foresters and James Island will close the programme with a Senior "C" game.

Although there will be the first fixtures of the season for the teams, they have been practicing regularly and should turn in good games. From the line-ups all seem to be considerably strengthened since last year. Keating, were last year's runners-up in their division, while the Bays have been out of the league for some time. However, with the announcement of their return to the game the store girls have shown considerable strength on paper and should put up plenty of opposition against the out-of-town team.

College will have several of their old boys back for their opening game, but they will have to move all the way to keep ahead of the fast High School squad.

The Foresters and James Island are

Sonnenberg Uses Flying Tackle To Beat Dan Koloff

Toronto, Oct. 16.—Gus Sonnenberg, claimant of the world's wrestling championship, successfully repudiated the challenge of Dan Koloff, the Balkan Lion, in two straight falls here last night.

Eight thousand persons who crowded into the arena's gardens, saw the ex-Dartmouth football star bring his flying tackle into play, scoring both falls in grapple style. The first came after thirty-nine minutes and thirty-three seconds and the second after six minutes and twelve seconds. Sonnenberg weighed 202 and Koloff 210.

40,000 Attend Baseball Final For Japan Title

Tokio, Oct. 16.—Japan's own "world series," for which the average attendance exceeded that in America, was decided yesterday at the Meiji Shrine Stadium when Waseda University defeated Kelo 6-3 in the third and final game of a series for the national inter-collegiate baseball championship. The stadium was jammed with 40,000 spectators at each of the three games and thousands were turned away. The attendance would have been doubled had there been room.

Throughout the country radio loudspeakers and newspaper scoreboards announced the progress of the game, which crowned the Athletics' triumph over the Cubs to the inside pages.

both reported to be in good shape and are expected to furnish an interesting game.

See these new de Luxe PIERCE ARROWS

A Special Exhibit of Late Style Expressions in America's Finest Motor Car

RICHLY adorned with a new and extensive Autumn wardrobe, the new Straight Eight line by Pierce-Arrow opens the season with a special exhibit.

This showing embraces a new group of de Luxe models—the very latest expression of Pierce-Arrow, and the utmost in artistry as applied to the finish and equipment of fine motor cars.

Pierce-Arrow puts emphasis on the fact that each model shown is of the new Straight Eight line—precisely of the design that revolutionized the fashion in fine motor cars this year.

The colorings and the fabrics, the harmonizing of exteriors and interiors, are all crisply fresh creations of master decorators. The appointments throughout are in the custom manner.

So far as mechanical features are concerned, it has always been maintained that in Pierce-Arrow is to be found every device of proved character known to the engineering of fine motor cars.

Such accepted improvements as non-shatterable glass, high-efficiency brakes, easy gear-shifts, and low center of gravity—in fact, whatever contributes to the safety and comfort of motorists—is present in Pierce-Arrow automatically and as a matter of course.

Often other much-heralded devices are disregarded by Pierce-Arrow because of their inability to contribute to this car's smoothness and adaptability of power, its high degree of safety and comfort.

Pierce-Arrow has since the beginning enjoyed the distinction of being America's finest motor car. The new Straight Eight this year has made it the most fashionable. And this season's colorings make it, beyond doubt, the most beautiful.

You are cordially invited to attend the Pierce-Arrow exhibit now being held. There has never been a more distinguished Pierce-Arrow showing.

$4,245 to $6,675 (Delivered at Victoria, Fully Equipped) In purchasing a car from income the average allowance on a good used car usually more than covers the initial Pierce-Arrow payment.

SAVING OF LIFE BRINGS WARNING TO MOTORISTS

San Francisco, Oct. 16.—A canary, sitting in its cage in a front window of the apartment of Mrs. Douglas Bragg, ceased its song and toppled from its perch. Alarmed, Mrs. Bragg investigated a private garage beneath her apartment.

There she found Arthur Klahn, lying unconscious by his automobile. The motor was running and the garage was filled with fumes from the exhaust. Klahn was revived with the aid of an inhalator.

Police and firemen who worked over Klahn joined in reissuing an old warning: "Carbon monoxide fumes from the exhaust of automobiles are deadly. Do not leave a motor running in a closed garage."

PROVINCIAL CHAPTER OPENS

Semi-annual Meeting of I.O.D.E. Held in Chilliwack To-day

Chilliwack, Oct. 15.—The semi-annual meeting of Provincial Chapter of British Columbia, Imperial Order Daughters of Empire, opened Tuesday in the city hall, with almost a full quota of delegates and officers. Following the salutation of the flag, an address of welcome to the visitors was given by Mrs. W. R. Gilmartin, to which a suitable reply was made by Mrs. Edgar Lee.

The report of the treasurer, Miss Ilse Terry, of Victoria, showed that the past six months had also been satisfactory financially. The sum of $3,696 had been expended, the $2,400 at Victoria receiving $549 of this sum. Providing of books and pictures for schools had taken over $241, and the war memorial had been assisted to the amount of $539. Work in India and the Children's Hospital Vancouver also figured largely in the sum spent in good works.

Mrs. J. Gordon Smith, of Victoria, in her report as secretary, particularly emphasized the impetus the work received this year in the Province through the holding of the national meeting here. All demands, and they had been many, had been met satisfactorily and observance made of outstanding patriotic endeavor, among these being the observance of Empire Shopping Week and the commemoration of the tenth anniversary of the first transatlantic flight celebrated.

A letter sent from the Provincial Chapter to His Majesty the King, bearing a message of loyalty and affection, had been graciously received and replied to.

SASKATCHEWAN'S POSITION

The province of Saskatchewan, which joined with British Columbia and Alberta in their petition to the federal cabinet, has been heard by the cabinet on the question of the mountain differential, but supported the main contention for a reduction in grain rates westbound and eastbound.

On the other side are the United Farmers of British Columbia and the United Farmers of Alberta, the latter being the first to open the appeal nearly a year ago.

NEW TAXATION PLAN FOR B.C. SCHOOLS DEBATED

While it is not in a position to outline any recommendations at the present time, as of course, any such recommendations will first be laid before the Government, I am in a position to enumerate certain characteristics which, in my opinion, any new system or modification of the present system should possess.

Mr. Hinchliffe then proceeded to enumerate his thoughts on the subject in the following order, showing what

Little Wheat To Be Rejected This Season

99 Per Cent Within Statutory Grades, Prairie Farmers Learn

Saskatoon, Oct. 16.—More than ninety-nine per cent of this year's prairie wheat crop falls within the statutory grades, according to Dean W. J. Rutherford, of the University of Saskatchewan, who addressed a meeting of the Saskatchewan branch of the Canadian Society of Technical Agriculture here today.

The speaker stated that the proportion of average fourteen per cent in some cases ran as high as nineteen per cent.

Alberta Leads

Though imperfect, Canada's grain grading system was considered by the world's chief wheat buying countries to be the best grading plan in the world, stated the dean.

Eventually the system of sampling from cars in the yard would give way to basing the grade on the sample at the head of the Great Lakes, Dean Rutherford believed.

Little No Grade

Dean Rutherford's statement that more than ninety-nine per cent of 1929 crop falls within the statutory grades means that virtually all of the yield may be rated under the headings: No. 1 hard, No. 2 and 3 Northern and No. 4, 5 and 6 wheats. Less than one per cent of the crop, he indicated, might be classed under the headings of smutty, no grade and rejected.

Eventually a member of the Saskatchewan Royal Grain Commission, which toured Canada taking evidence regarding the marketing and handling of Canada's wheat crop.

Support For Manitoba

W. F. McEwen, K.C., for the Province of Saskatchewan, supported Manitoba. He was not prepared to discuss the mountain differential at this time, he said.

Hon. Lucien Cannon, Solicitor-General of Canada, commented that if the question of the mountain differential was left out now, the second petition standing in the names of the Governments of British Columbia, Alberta and Saskatchewan might never come up. His counsel nodded agreement with him.

Major Alistair Fraser, K.C., for the Canadian National Railways, pointed out that Mr. McEwen really wanted the same rate basis for grain and products to domestic ports in British Columbia as now existed on export shipments. If the mountain differential were removed there would be still a wide margin between the two cases. Mr. McEwen said that if the Cabinet should decide the farmers ought to get the bigger reduction, there would be no difficulty in granting the lower. He reiterated his protest against any delay in settling the whole matter.

PROSECUTION COUNSEL ASKS HEAVY SENTENCE IN CURTAILING OPIUM-SMUGGLING PRACTICE

A sentence of three years in the penitentiary, a fine of $300 and $20 costs, or in default a further term of three months, was passed on Herbert George Delamont, convicted of unlawful possession of opium, by Mr. Justice Murphy in the Assize Court. The Victoria Assizes were then adjourned sine die.

Previous to the sentencing W. C. Moresby, K.C., Crown counsel, asked for a severe penalty as a deterrent to others. The Barons of Canada had gone to some length to increase the severity of sentences for narcotic drug offences in an effort to stop the importation and distribution of harmful drugs, he said. The accused in this instance had pleaded guilty, but his explanation of his actions had failed to be of much benefit to the authorities in regard to following what was commonly known as the "higher-ups," concluded Crown counsel.

E. A. Ridell, president of the Vancouver Trust Company of New Westminster, B.C., to-day issued a statement denying the accuracy of the story sent out from Vancouver Tuesday morning to the effect that his company was being sold to the London General Trust Co. It cannot be mere coincidence that 98% of the world's greatest artists endorse the Steinway. "Let us see what vaccination did for Sheffield. This Sheffield epidemic occurred in 1887 in the very worst quarter of the town. They went on vaccinating and revaccinating and still the smallpox epidemic spread. There were no less than 2,000 cases and 600 deaths. It was then that the rain which washed the sewers and the drains, cleared away the filth from the streets, washed the dirt from the gutters, washed the filth from the dens, and away went the smallpox. Stubborn Coughs Ended by Recipe, Mixed at Home

Here is the famous old recipe which millions of housewives have found to be the most dependable means of breaking up a stubborn, lingering cough. It takes but a moment to prepare and costs little, but it gives real relief even for those dreaded coughs that follow severe cold epidemics.

From any drugstore, get 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex, pour it into a 16 oz. bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. Thus you make 16 ounces of better remedy than you could buy ready-made for three times the cost. It never spoils and tastes so good that even children like it.

Not only does this simple mixture soothe and heal the inflamed throat membranes with surprising ease, but also it is absorbed into the blood, and acts directly upon the bronchial tubes, thus aiding the whole system in throwing off the cough. It loosens the germ-laden phlegm and eases chest soreness in a way that is really astonishing.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form. Nothing known in medicine is more helpful in cases of distressing coughs, chest colds, and bronchial troubles.

Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

POTENTATE OPENS NEW TEMPLE OF THE SHRINE HERE

Gizeh Temple's New Home Has Inauguration Party

With potentates and other high dignitaries carrying their scepters and arrayed with their jeweled hedges and tiger's claws, the new Gizeh Temple of the Shrine was opened by Potentate Walter Loney last night.

The function was a private affair for Shriner and their families, the public opening to be staged next month with a great ball.

For last night's ceremonies there came to Victoria Potentate Douglas Ball of Nile Temple, Seattle; Noble Frank Lazier, recorder of Nile Temple; Noble Charles Minsinger of Portland; and Noble Anthony Swindle of Tacoma. Fifty Shriner from Oakland Temple, who were on the Empress of Canada, had to change their traveling plans and leave before last night's function.

HELPING CRIPPLES

Noble E. E. Leeson, recorder of Gizeh Temple, spoke during the evening of the work the Temple in its construction of its ten-bed hospital unit for crippled children adjoining and in connection with the present Mill Bay Sanatorium. Mr. Leeson traced the Shrine movement of hospital construction and maintenance of hospitals for crippled children from the inception of the idea at the Imperial Council meeting in Portland nine years ago.

The Potentate called to the platform and introduced to the gathering the following who had charge of the new temple building operations: Ralph Berrell, architect; Noble Tom Hawkins, contractor; Noble Tom Hawkins, chairman of the building committee; Noble Grogan, financial secretary; Noble Lee, artistic decorator and furnisher; Noble Sidney Wales, electrical expert.

Miss Edna Loney, the soprano soloist of the evening, and Robert Morrison the baritone. A quartet of Edward Williams, R. Morrison, W. Alpaes and J. Birnie also sang. George Green gave cornet solos and Noble Maynard and partner presented a comic skit. The programme committee consisted of Nobles Wallace, Worthington, Ford and Schmelz.

COLONEL WILBY HEADS SERVICES

Elected to Fill Col. Lightbody's Place at Annual Meeting in Armories

Colonel A. W. E. Wilby was elected president of the United Services Institution of Vancouver Island at the annual meeting in the Armories last night.

Lieutenant-Commander C. Taylor, R.N., was named vice-president, and Major P. T. Sullivan, secretary-treasurer. The following were elected to the executive council: Lieutenant J. M. Anderson, Lieutenant-Colonel C. E. Ball, Major C. S. Craig, Captain L. de S. Duff and Major R. H. B. Ker.

Arrangements for a weekly mass "to plead that the sacrifice, made by fallen comrades in the cause of peace might be of some avail," were tentatively outlined by Rev. Father Wood during the meeting. To forward this mass, which he proposed to base on the lines adopted by the Catholic Church, Father Wood suggested that members who had relatives or friends killed in the Great War should send the names of the deceased to him for subjects for his memorials.

The idea of memorials was endorsed by the Prince of Wales, the Governor-General and Lieutenant-Governor, he stated.

Before the meeting closed retiring president Colonel Lightbody read his report for the year.

Brigadier-General J. Sutherland Brown also addressed the meeting. "I look upon these military institutions," he said, "as a very important part of the education of officers of the permanent force and shall do my utmost to see that the officers of the district attend the meetings."

PROFESSOR RAPS HINCHLIFFE ON U.S. TEXT BOOKS

In Certain Subjects They Provide Best Available. Says Dr. G. C. Sedgwick

Vancouver, Oct. 16.—"Patriotism is founded on the love of one's own, while nationalism is founded on hostility to others," declared Dr. G. C. Sedgwick, University of British Columbia, in an address before the Gryo Club on Monday in criticizing Hon. Joshua Hinchliffe, Minister of Education, for the text books printed in the United States were gradually to be eliminated and Canadian-printed books substituted.

"There is just enough truth in the minister's statement to carry it with well thinking men," the speaker said. "But behind the policy is apparently the notion that what is British or Canadian must be best. It is a trick of nationalism that we must throw out United States text books not because our own are the best, but because we don't want the others."

Dr. Sedgwick declared that, speaking as a teacher, it so happened that the study of child welfare in earlier grades was undertaken more thoroughly in the United States than anywhere else. English board schools, in that particular, take their cue from United States writers, he said, and the elementary lessons are modelled after United States text books.

PRaises U.S. Text Books

"What we are doing is denying material to our own children in barring U.S. text books," the professor continued. "What choice must we make if we are to do our duty towards the children?" The secondary schools in Great Britain are unlike ours, and the text books which suit their schools do not suit our schools."

The speaker declared that in certain subjects, the United States text books are the best available.

Referring to Mr. Hinchliffe's determination to invade the university territory in regard to text books, Dr. Sedgwick said there he would find sixty or eighty American products and no other text books of British or Canadian manufacture to take their place. At any rate, the minister had like it, but because we disliked some-one else.

Dr. Sedgwick made it clear that in mentioning Hon. Mr. Hinchliffe and his school text book policy he was not speaking in a political sense.

Easing the Blow Fritz: Dad you are a lucky man. Father: How is that?

Fritz: You won't have to buy me any school books this year. I have been left in the same class.

Illustrating his point of what a nationalist trick is, Dr. Sedgwick referred to the desire of some to establish a Dominion-wide rugby union. Rugby is a good game, and he would like to see it generally played throughout Canada, but he knew some would interpret the argument that it is our duty to play it because it is a British game. That is wrong. The reason for playing any game is because it is a good game. It is a peculiar idea that we should not play a game, not because we do not

Protests Wholesale Killing of Big Game

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London, Oct. 16.—Wild animal life in Africa is disappearing "at a rate that would astonish the most casual observer."

This is the regretful conclusion of Cherry Kearton, the pioneer of big game photography, in his latest book, "In the Land of the Lion."

"The reason is, to a large extent," he says, "the introduction of the motor car as an aid to the week-end sportsman. In the old days the number of miles that a man could march limited the number of animals that he could shoot; but to-day he can travel many times that distance by car."

"During the last twenty-five years I have made many expeditions into this country, and always my object has been not to kill animals but to study and photograph them. . . . I have no criticism of the traveler who shoots for the pot or to defend himself against unprovoked attack. Nor is my major criticism against the serious-minded big game hunter who, whatever he does, has no love for indiscriminate killing, but I condemn the local resident who shoots a zebra because he can get five shillings for its skin, and kills the harmless hippo, bobbing in the water, because he wants to test his marksmanship."

One of the animals most quickly disappearing is the elephant, "a mild-mannered creature desiring above all things to be left in peace."

"I am certain," writes Mr. Kearton, "that if there were still in the world a tract of elephant-inhabited country where the white man had never penetrated, I could walk there and watch and photograph without the slightest fear of molestation. But it is not so in Central Africa today. Naturally, the elephant does not distinguish between the white man with a camera and the white man with a rifle."

The elephant will not hesitate to come for the white visitor, who needs to remember that "his speed is such that he can overtake a car going at twenty miles an hour." Even if the white man scrambles up a tree he will not escape an irate elephant, which will push his great weight against a tree until it falls.

A HUNTER'S 112 RHINO
"The rhino is disappearing," continues Mr. Kearton, "even in the Great Game Reserve. I foresee that in another twenty years, in Central Africa at any rate, the rhino will be hard to find. A hunter recently shot no fewer than 112 rhino."

Mr. Kearton found the gorilla to be "a very harmless and peaceable animal." Baboons remind him, because of their playfulness, of family parties on holiday at Margate or Brighton.

The cheetah is "an entirely fowable and harmless animal who never attacks man even when sorely wounded."

A notable exception is the leopard. "If I had to choose between facing a lion and facing a leopard," says the writer, "I should unhesitatingly choose the lion; for while of 200 lions one might be a man-eater . . . no one can say that a leopard will not kill on sight anything that attracts his attention as a possible prey, whether it be dog, pig, or guinea-fowl, or woman or child."

"In the Land of the Lion" contains eighty-eight photographs of animals in their natural haunts.

Beetles Devastate Timbers of Old Hall

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London, Oct. 16.—"The familiar phrase 'Entered at Stationers' Hall,' has been obsolete since the Copyright Act came into force seventeen years ago, but the Fraternity of Stationers of London, from whom Shakespeare obtained official approval of 'A book called Hamlet' and other of the immortal plays, still carries on the work of encouraging good printing and the art of letters."

Their home is an ancient building off Ludgate Hill, fair to look upon within and without, but subject to such devastation by the death-watch beetle as recently to require extensive repairs. It was found on investigation that the principal timbers supporting the roof over the banqueting hall, where Barrie was once the guest of honor, had been weakened by the attacks of the beetle, and a method of preservation similar to that applied to the roof of Westminster Hall had to be used. That is to say, steel trusses were put in behind the old woodwork which, while relieving the timbers of the load, left them in position. When the old roof had been thus supported the decayed wood was cut out, the remainder treated with insecticide, and new portions inserted in keeping with the original design.

One-class Liners Boon to Travelers

Reuter's Special to The Victoria Times
London, Oct. 16.—Many shipping lines are coming to recognize that the demand for uniform fares for ocean travel must be adequately met.

This has for long been apparent to the Bibby, Anchor and Henderson lines traveling to the Far East, and the "Bay" fleet of fuel oil-burning ships run on the Australian service by the Aberdeen and Commonwealth line are proving equally popular.

Fares by this line are less expensive than first or second class travel by a mail line, and passengers have the ship to themselves. The result shown in the Moreland Bay, which left Southampton recently with a full complement of about 700, is that the passengers have extended decks, an enlarged dining saloon with smaller tables, a new and cozy smoke-room, a well-equipped nursery playground, and greatly enhanced cabin accommodation, as well as other new attractions. Fares vary according to the deck on which one is berthed, but every passenger has the free run of the vessel, with only the usual official limitations, so that there is no distinction.

WHITNEY LETTER

(By Stanton Brown & Co., Limited)

New York, Oct. 16.—Whitney of the Wall Street Financial Service, says today:

STRONG RESISTANCE TO DECLINE

"At the beginning of the week it was pointed out here that the market of a unit would not be as buoyant as it had been for the past week as the technical condition of many issues had been weakened, at least temporarily, by the elimination of short interest during the approach of the twenty-seven-point advance which the industrial had just completed.

"On Monday the market was raised in a manner which had all the earmarks of artificiality, the same interest attempting the same maneuver yesterday to the net accomplishment of closing the market down less than two points in the industrial averages.

BEST STOCKS TUMBLE FAST, SHORT SELLERS NOW PILING UP QUICK PROFITS

New York, Oct. 16.—At the close of the market this afternoon Dow Jones average of thirty industrials stood at 336.13, off 11.11 points for the day, and for twenty rails at 175.74, off 2.00 points for the day.

New York, Oct. 16.—Recent predictions of a secondary reaction in the stock market were realized more emphatically today when, with few exceptions, the whole list broke badly.

Many of the leaders in the bull market of the summer and early fall, such as General Electric, Consolidated Gas, Standard Gas, Westinghouse, Western Union, Columbia Gas, National Biscuit broke down to fifteen points.

U.S. Steel common tumbled from 223 to 211.34, which brought more than twenty points down from the high of two days ago. Amcocks got down to 110.

Conservative opinion seems to be that the bull market is definitely over for 1929, as from the company statements now being published it is becoming apparent that the big investment trusts were heavy sellers of stocks at the peak of the movement in August when the public was doing its hardest buying in anticipation of what it thought would be an autumn bull market. It is thought that the trusts will not buy back until a big reduction has been forced in brokers' loans, which may not be until the end of the year at least.

In the meantime, short sellers are making money faster than the bulls did, even in their most unbridled days. Call money held at 7 per cent all day.

Timken was one of the few strong stocks on the card today. It shot up from 131 to a new record high of 139 and closed at 135.

New York, Oct. 16 (B.C. Bond).—Observers found plenty of justification for the break in the utilities section on the ground that they had been put to the test by higher prices in relation to current earnings during the last few months and that reaction from this demonstration was almost inevitable.

Weekly trade reviews indicated that the reduction in demand for steel by the automobile industry had been drastic and too heavy to be offset by large requirements of the railroads.

"I have pretty well completed arrangements for that trip," he said. "We left the Southern Cross in the pocket factory in Holland for an overhaul. She will be practically rebuilt, but the old engine whined and crossed the Pacific and the Indian Ocean, and have been all around Australia on many trips will be in the Southern Cross when we start west across the Atlantic."

"We hope to leave London when the fine weather comes in May or June. Am I apprehensive of the trip? Certainly not, but we will leave nothing to chance. I want more than one engine under me in case of emergency on these long flights. We succeeded across the Pacific because our preparations were perfect. This time we will give the same utmost care, and I feel certain of success."

"It's a highly organized and intricate business," this jumping across oceans. Men go in train themselves to 'fly blind' and to meet absolutely expected conditions and weather, but we are surmounting all these difficulties."

"I have no plans for a flight from San Francisco to Tokyo. The Southern Cross would hardly be suitable for that trip. Its rather long for our gasoline capacity—say anyway it's the Atlantic I want to tackle now."

Returning to Sydney, Kingsford-Smith will devote himself this winter to the promotion of an airway company which is to operate a fast passenger service between Sydney, Melbourne and Brisbane.

In his address to the Canadian Club Major Kingsford-Smith said that if he should fly the Atlantic in the Southern Cross, he hoped to bring his machine to Vancouver, because it was here that he started his life career.

With the completion of the trip across the Atlantic, the flier said, the Southern Cross would have made a real flight around the world. He would have crossed the equator on his course.

The draft carries the usual provision that the bylaw would require the assent of the electors, before becoming operative.

$350,000 ADDITIONAL

A second proposed by-law, "to authorize the Corporation of the City of Victoria to borrow a sum of money to time sums not exceeding in the aggregate $350,000 for the purpose of constructing, reconstruction and extension of the waterworks system of the said corporation," would follow the first measure if the plan secures the endorsement of the council. This too would require the assent of the electors.

In the proposed streets bylaw most of the thirty-nine locations would involve the removal of the old-time wooden blocks, or the extension of paving from points where it was left off in previous years.

Under the present system the city takes care of what street work it does by

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE

By B.C. Bond Corporation's Licensed Wire

Oct. 16 (B.C. Bond).—Wall Street Mirror today issued the following to its clients:

"With the market continuing absolutely without trend, sentiment regarding individual stocks is becoming more mixed. Caution is the keynote in commission house circles, although there is a disposition to look upon the high-grade issues with favor."

"The action of the Massachusetts Public Service Commission in regard to the Boston Edison case is beginning to make itself felt in the market for the public utility stocks."

"Until the market is able to establish a definite trend, it is best to sit on the side lines."

"Excellent buying is making its appearance in the rails as a group. In some issues this buying has become aggressive, but in most rails the buyers are content to take stock as offered without making any effort to bid prices up. One of the rails which is being accumulated is Missouri, Kansas and Texas. Katy is within a few points of its top and is likely to break out at any time in a sharp forward movement."

"Montgomery Ward acts like a sharp in the market, and it is likely to be fighting back and forth in a narrow range."

WHEAT BROKERS SAY

New York, Oct. 16 (B.C. Bond).—Brokers' opinions today are that the volume of trading is a healthy feature, as it indicates that the public interest is not over-extensive.

Pennington's opinion appears to be unlikely that some attempt will be made to force a resumption of the decline, and from an immediate trading viewpoint, it would appear advisable to protect one's position.

Hornblower and Weeks—Whether the utilities influence was primarily responsible for restricting the market, we feel that the chief consideration will be the fact that the loan will be the farthest thing from the mind of the market after to-morrow's close. These may well give little account of the real liquidation that has taken place, because they will also include borrowing attendant on the large volume of stock rights, whose payment dates during the last week when the uncertainties connected with the loan figures have been clouding the way. It would not be surprising if the market tended more toward constructive attempts of such stocks as Timken Roller Bearing, New Haven, Shattuck and Anchor Cup.

This market also followed by a return to favor on the part of chemicals and canning stocks, merchandising shares and railroad equipments, whose business outlook is exceptionally good.

KINGSFORD-SMITH TO SAIL SOUTH FROM HERE

ing girl born in Australia but for most of her life a resident of San Francisco. An alert, ruddy-faced man, just turned thirty, Kingsford-Smith is one of the world's most famous aviators. He has won 70,000 miles of air travel, and his plane Southern Cross since he pointed her gallantly through the clouds, accompanied by his crew.

"I've one more ocean to cross," however," he said this morning, "announcing that next year he hoped to span the Atlantic westward in one jump, London to New York."

"I have pretty well completed arrangements for that trip," he said. "We left the Southern Cross in the pocket factory in Holland for an overhaul. She will be practically rebuilt, but the old engine whined and crossed the Pacific and the Indian Ocean, and have been all around Australia on many trips will be in the Southern Cross when we start west across the Atlantic."

POTATO AND EGG PRICES SOARING UP

By B.C. Bond Corporation's Licensed Wire

May Surpass Levels Established Four Years Ago; Both Commodities Very Scarce

Taking a greater jump in price than any registered on local markets for some time, eggs and potatoes showed signs of eclipsing the market set by them four years ago, when they sold for prices far above those usually in force during the winter. Eggs rose to 62 cents a dozen for extras, while potatoes showed a $1 increase per bushel over the price last week.

Both commodities are exceptionally scarce here this year, and are expected to decline before the end of November.

Wholesale prices issued this morning show eggs to be selling at 57, 54, 50 and 47 cents a dozen for extras, firsts, pullets and peewees. The same grades are retailing at 62, 60 and 54 cents.

Intimating that further rises are due, the B.C. Egg and Poultry Pool here was unable to supply certain merchants in the city with extras and could give them only a limited number of firsts.

Peewees and smaller eggs will not be of decent marketing size for two or three weeks yet, but even with the addition of these, the market will still be understocked for the next two months.

On the wholesale vegetable market, Yakima Netted Gems and Ashcroft potatoes rose to $3.35 a sack, while local produce went up to $3.65. Retailers are offering them at $4.25 for the first two varieties and $3.75 for the last.

While Ashcroft potatoes are exceptionally scarce, the Yakima crop is reported to be very fair. The United States growers are holding back their supply until the prices reach a still higher level.

This morning a carload of extra fancy apples arrived on the wholesale market, and were finding a ready sale to retail merchants. Indeed, the shipment are some exceptionally fine fruit of the Delicious, Snow, Jonathan and Newton varieties.

The Capital City Co-operative House Tomato Growers' Association is shipping to-night by express, their first carload of hot-house tomatoes to Toronto, through their brokers, Oppenheimer Bros., Fraser Wood Limited.

WAR RELIEF MEASURE IS COMPLETED

tal, soldiers and their dependents were committed to the payment of $602,628 in arrears, and while many made good, there were some who suffered by being unable to carry out their agreements within the period.

The wind-up of the Ten-year Plan was completed yesterday when the last of the remaining instalments, included in the tax sale list, and purchased by private bidders.

Commitments under the Ten-year Plan were incurred in the years 1918, 1919 and 1920, with a prepayment of the first ten equal instalments. The last of the capital sum and interest fell due this year. Many owners redeemed their status and the plan was completed by paying all charges outstanding.

The city's private bill was based on the inability of service men and their dependents to take up the full amount of citizenship after an absence of nearly five years. The Fifteen-year Plan was on the same style, only with a longer period in which recovery could be achieved. By 1937 both plans will have been completed by the termination of all agreements involved. It was explained by Edwin C. Smith, city treasurer, today.

TORONTO MINES

Toronto, Oct. 16 (Globe, Telegram & Co.).—Drifting west, the twenty-third level of Teck Hughes a distance of approximately sixty feet on the vein, values encountered are said to run very high. The drift is about eight feet wide with both walls in one. Slaking has shown the vein to be fourteen feet in width.

Such has been said and much more might be digested about the president's statement, they were pleased to know, and the company had nearly 10,000 shareholders. It is said that well over a thousand shareholders dumped their small share lots in the recent and hectic movement that ailed things off so drastically.

Teck Hughes dipped in the face of official reports that mineview looked excellent. Things have been said, but never founded, that professional short selling, helped by panic selling, was responsible. The stock has recovered approximately $7,000,000 in market value on routine property development news.

To-day's broadcast on Teck Hughes centres around the twenty-third level, where a distance of approximately sixty feet on the vein has been opened, with values as high as on the famous sixteenth and nineteenth levels, the high-grade feeding sections of the past year. The area is about eight feet wide, and both walls are in one. Slaking has shown the vein to be fourteen feet in width.

The mine is near at hand when the Conlarium Mine opens, and the Teck Hughes Ltd., the latter to spend around $500,000 in big development and going to 4,000 feet for the depth, will be fully under way.

Conlarium is now milling around 200 tons daily and reported making somewhat better returns than featured the operation before it went into regular production. The reorganization under the Lindley plan, the few remaining bondholders who did not deposit their bonds in the offer of exchange have been given a subsequent privilege.

It is reported from Elk Lake that all available men have been hired to construct a motor road from Elk Lake to the Teck Hughes mine, about twenty-five miles. The extension may possibly be continued to Porcupine in the future. There is at present a good motor road from New Liskeard to Elk Lake.

Of advice that the next official news coming from Anselm with regard to its diamond drill campaign on the new "P" ore body will carry the most significant of any yet.

to-morrow. There is every reason to expect some important announcement will follow this meeting, attended by the Toronto, Montreal and New York members of the board.

Many have been plans under way by the Noranda directors in the company enlargement. One of the most discussed matters concerns initial dividend news. The company is now on the last quarter of the fiscal year, which ends December 31. It would be no surprise to the street if to-morrow's meeting decides a straight payment of $1 per share, or else sets an annual dividend basis, rewarding those who have patiently accepted the very optimistic remarks of the president.

Noranda's delivery of steel for the smelters which will enable the smelter to go into production approximately one month from to-day, and attain daily production of at least 2,000 tons is understood to have been speeded up somewhat.

In addition to likely dividend discussion, it can be said that the plans for the refinery on tidewater, in which Noranda will hold major control, with Nicholas Co. of New York and British Metals as influential partners, have been materialized to prominent position in securing the contract to refine the Flin Flon blister copper. The importance of this has been officially remarked upon.

to-morrow. There is every reason to expect some important announcement will follow this meeting, attended by the Toronto, Montreal and New York members of the board.

Many have been plans under way by the Noranda directors in the company enlargement. One of the most discussed matters concerns initial dividend news. The company is now on the last quarter of the fiscal year, which ends December 31. It would be no surprise to the street if to-morrow's meeting decides a straight payment of $1 per share, or else sets an annual dividend basis, rewarding those who have patiently accepted the very optimistic remarks of the president.

Noranda's delivery of steel for the smelters which will enable the smelter to go into production approximately one month from to-day, and attain daily production of at least 2,000 tons is understood to have been speeded up somewhat.

In addition to likely dividend discussion, it can be said that the plans for the refinery on tidewater, in which Noranda will hold major control, with Nicholas Co. of New York and British Metals as influential partners, have been materialized to prominent position in securing the contract to refine the Flin Flon blister copper. The importance of this has been officially remarked upon.

The Innocent Cheat

By Ruth Dewey Groves
AUTHOR OF "RICH GIRL—POOR GIRL," ETC.

She had purposely chosen to take Helen off guard in order to surprise a truthful answer from her. But Helen said nothing; only her expression was an admission of the accuracy of Shallimar's shot. "He was," she later thought herself. "Well, Helen, I never thought you would carry that idiotic infatuation so far that you would let it interfere with your happiness." She ceased speaking very suddenly because she saw that Helen's face had become deathly white. "What is it?" she cried. "What's the matter, Helen?" "Nothing," Helen denied. "There is just what your precious Leno who telephoned just before dinner." "Yes, he did telephone," Helen admitted. "You seem to be having a difficult time with him." "He insisted upon coming up," Helen explained. "There was something," she said, that he'd made up his mind to tell me now. I told him you were here and that Eva Ennis was coming over. You heard me, but he said he would come anyway unless I promised to be at home to receive him this morning." "I told him to go to the devil," Shallimar exclaimed. "He said something," she said half to herself. "He has never made idle threats, and he seems so sure of himself now." Shallimar drew herself off the bed. "I suppose you mean he has refused to give you up. Hope you aren't fearful of any threat to do himself out. He's voice was high with disdain as he walked over to a dressing table to inspect herself in the mirror. "One wild night and not a gray hair to show for it," she murmured with mock sincerity. From the mirror she wheeled to face Helen again. "I wish you'd let me talk with him," she urged excitedly, though I admire him tremendously. "No, I've got to hear what he has to say," Helen replied. "I promised to keep him away last." She did not add that she had been

"I hope it's from Bob Ennis," she exclaimed when the maid told her of it. She hurried away to the library, only to find that it was a wire message from her home. In answer to the one she had sent when she decided to remain at Bramblewood. After it was read to her she sped back to the living-room. Helen and Brent had gone. She went to a window and saw them walking in the garden. She thought they looked as though they were quarrelling, as indeed they were. Helen was changing Brent with forcing himself upon her. He answered bluntly that he had a right so to do. "And what's more, I want you to get rid of that fresh Morris kid," she demanded. "I shall do nothing of the kind," Helen retorted. "Anyway, you shouldn't pick on Shallimar. In a sense she's an ally of yours." Helen was sorry the instant she had spoken the words because Brent would not let them pass unexplained. After repeated failure to elicit a satisfactory explanation from her he began to draw his own conclusions. "Let me see," he mused aloud. "To be an ally of mine at this particular time she must be in favor of our marriage." "She isn't," he said. "Then she must, in some way, stand between you and any other plans you have. A plan that would put me out of the picture. That must concern young Ennis." Helen began to turn hot and cold by turns. "Oh, please stop your stupid deducting," she exclaimed impatiently. "Stupid!" Brent smiled. "You would not mind if it were incorrect. So it is young Ennis! So far so good. Now didn't I hear the young lady say that she hoped her call was from Ennis? I did," he answered himself, as Helen remained stonily silent. He chuckled. "Fosching on your grounds, is she?" he went on. "And you won't send her kiting?" Helen's chin went up in answer. "Friede, I see. That's fine. Well, I'm glad she's going to stay. She is indeed an ally." "Is this all you wanted to do, just torment me?" Helen cried, stopping in the path between the dahlias beds, and turning upon Brent. "No," he said quietly. "I had something I wanted to say to you." Then she said, "Go on." "Well, I'm going to see him any way," Shallimar declared. "But to be in perfect working order I must get some sleep. Goodnight, darling. So far I've had a wonderful time at Bramblewood—elsewhere." She was gone, laughing over her shoulder, and carrying with her a vision of a drooping golden girl that saddened her not a little. "I wonder if it's because she feels she's got to marry Leonard Brent or because she is in love with Bob Ennis. That's low!" she asked herself. The next morning, or rather later on that same day, she was still pondering the question. In fact it was on her mind when Brent was announced while she and Helen were lingering over late breakfast. She jumped up when Helen left the table and insisted upon going with her to receive him. He greeted her with a coolness that barely escaped being uncivil. Shallimar was not bothered. "Why," she cried, "you're looking fine! Not a day over fifty!" Brent glowered at her. "You're looking young yourself, Miss Morris," he returned icily. "I should say that pink rompers would come pretty close to indicating your age." Shallimar laughed. "Helen is so fortunate to have such a dear, fatherly guardian," she cooed on. "One who hasn't forgotten his own youth. I'll bet, even if it is a . . . way behind him." Helen looked at her appealingly, but Shallimar was not to be headed off. "It will be so nice for Helen's husband when she marries not to have to go to a stern parent about it. You will understand that she is rich enough to marry any young man she cares for, won't you? I'm sure you will, you're such a dear old darling." Brent could have killed her, and most certainly would have tried to annihilate her with words had not there come just then a telephone call for her.

DOROTHY DIX

A YOUNG girl wants to know what sort of matrimonial risk I consider a widower.

The best, my dear, the best. A preferred risk. About like investing in a gilt-edge bond off which you are pretty certain to collect nice fat dividends in happiness and prosperity as long as you live.

The one exception from this rule is where the widower is handicapped by having children. That alters the proposition and turns marrying a widower from being a safe thing to the most hazardous gamble on earth, and one not to be recommended to the conservative. Compared to plunging on Wild Cat Preferred or playing roulette or attempting to pick the winners in a horse race is a sure bet. In fact, any woman who will take a chance on marrying a widower must either be an incurable optimist, a full-fledged angel or a born moron.

Still, women do it every day and live happily ever after. Nothing could be a higher testimonial to the superexcellence of the widower as a husband than that many a second wife feels that she is repaid for all that she has to put up with from her ungrateful and unappreciative stepchildren, and their snooping and fault-finding mother's relatives, by the tenderness and goodness of her husband to her.

There are many reasons why the widower should rank A-1 in the husband class, and why a girl is wise to pick one out for a mate. One is that he is a man and not a boy. He has arrived at the years of discretion. His tastes and habits are formed. He knows what wants in a wife and when he picks one out he is very sure to be satisfied with his choice, and not want to take her back to the divorce bargain counter the next day and swap her off for something entirely different, as men only too often do with their first wives, whom they have married in their callow salad days.

Also, the widower is a better judge of women than the unmarried man, and so less liable to make a mistake in the choice of a wife. Having had experience in matrimony he knows that there are other qualities to look for in the lady with whom you expect to spend the next twenty or thirty years that are more important than a peaches-and-cream complexion, or a cute way of rolling the eyes.

Therefore, you will generally find the widower passing up the flapper and the living picture for some woman who has brains as well as pulchritude, who is intelligent and companionable, and who is willing to work and make him a comfortable home. You don't find him marrying a woman for one thing, and then lambasting her because she isn't something else, which is certainly a great saving in the wear and tear on the nerves and emotions of any wife.

Another advantage that the widower has as a husband is that he is housebroken. It doesn't come to him with a shock of surprise, as it does to the man who is making his initial venture into matrimony, that when a man puts his head in the noose he is caught and tied. He is no longer free to roam about with his old pals and spend his evenings playing poker with the boys. Henceforth his fate is to be a fireside companion.

The widower knows this beforehand and is not only reconciled to spending his evenings at home, but actually enjoys it, or else he would not again forfeit his liberty. So his wife is saved the nightly fight over the lachry that makes the honeymoon a dark and bloody battle for the young newlyweds, until either the woman conquers and ties her husband to her apron string, or else surrenders and spends her evenings by her lonesome.

Another factor that makes for the peace and happiness of the woman who marries a widower is that generally he is not only more able to provide for his household, but is more liberal about doing it than the young husband. Here again experience counts. The infatuated lover deludes himself with the belief that two can live as cheaply as one, and he really believes that his adored Angelina will be a sort of miracle-worker who will be able to conjure up delicious meals down out of the sky, and on whose pretty back chiffons will grow like feathers on a bird of paradise, and he visions her as always saying: "Darling, do you love me still?"

And then when he finds out that the staple of her conversation is: "Will you give me? Have you got? Can you let me have $5 this morning?" and the bills begin to come in thicker than the leaves in Vallombrosa, why, then he is horrified and amazed and thinks his wife is wasteful and extravagant, and he and Angelina have words over it, and begin the acrimonious argument about money that ends in the estrangement of so many husbands and wives.

But the widower has cut his financial wisdom teeth on his first wedding ring. He knows what matrimony costs and that wives are expensive luxuries like automobiles, but you can't get along without them, so he pays the price without beefing over it.

Still another advantage that a woman has in marrying a widower is that he has developed technique in handling a wife. Like Mr. Kipling's hero he has learned about women from his first marriage. He has got her to a lot of curious little feminine peculiarities. He has found out that you can't jolly a woman into doing anything, but you can't drive her an inch. He has learned to distinguish between temper and nerves, and when women cry for grief and when for revenue. And he has become skilful in stroking wife's fur the right way, which makes it pleasant and purry for her.

And finally, widowers make good husbands because nearly always they are trying to pay back to some other woman their thoughtlessness, or their unintentional cruelty, or their hardness to their first wives. Many a man's tenderness to his second wife is conscience money.

And for these and sundry other reasons widowers are a good matrimonial risk.

Sister Mary's Kitchen

By SISTER MARY

Nowadays we think little of the seasonability of foods. Fruits and vegetables are shipped from northern and southern markets the whole year through, making it possible to eat strawberries in January no matter where we may be.

However, some sea foods are like game and have a very definite "season." Oysters are one of them and are "in" from September to May.

Market and shipping reports promise an unusually fine stock of oysters for this year, and since research workers have added oysters to the list of foods comparatively rich in vitamin content it behooves the housekeeper to make frequent use of this popular shell fish.

Although oysters have been high in price for the last few years, there is little waste and the amount of nourishment is large for the money invested. They are nutritious, easily digested, a good source of protein, and vitamins A, B, C and D are present in varying degrees.

Since oysters are a protein food, their digestibility depends much on the care used in preparing them for the table. Intense heat and too-long cooking period will make them tough, leathery and hard to digest.

Raw oysters may be served to invalids. Steamed, baked or in a plain stew, they offer appetizing variety to invalids and children.

Made dishes of oysters are more difficult to digest because of the added ingredients. The oysters themselves are practically steamed or baked in the extra material.

A hot oyster dish is suitable for luncheon or Sunday night supper. Oyster salad is unusual and makes a good Sunday night supper dish for guests.

Grapefruit sections, celery and green pepper are combined with a well-seasoned French dressing for the salad. A few gratings of nutmeg and a drop of onion juice are included in the seasoning.

The simplest way to cook oysters is to bake them. Either those in the shell or out of it can be used. When they are baked in the shell, the shells should be well scrubbed. Place in a dripping pan in a hot oven and bake until shells part. Force open, sprinkle with salt and pepper and serve on the shell.

Baked Oysters

One point oysters, small ovals of toast a little larger than the oysters, 4 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons lemon juice, 1/2 teaspoon salt, paprika, 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg. Clean and drain oysters. Toast bread on one side only. Arrange in dripping pan-toasted side up. Place one oyster on each piece of toast. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and bake in a moderately hot oven until oysters are plump. Cream butter, slowly heat in salt, pepper, nutmeg and lemon juice. Spread over oysters, sprinkle with paprika and serve at once.

BRITISH SAVINGS TOTAL GROWING

London, Oct. 16 (Canadian Press Cable).—There is no short cut to prosperity, Right Hon. J. H. Thomas, Lord Privy Seal, impressed on the conference of the National Savings Movement at the Mansion House yesterday. "This nation was built up on our ability to sell our goods to the world," he continued. "Any artificial attempt to solve the unemployment problem must fail unless that is kept in mind."

The Minister of Employment said he appreciated that people, reading the Board of Trade returns, would twit him and the Labor Government because the unemployment figures for the week had increased by 25,000 and because there were now a million and a quarter unemployed.

"There are various other figures these statisticians can multiply and then say, 'there you are; here is this Old Country down and out,' he said. "But notwithstanding all our trials and difficulties, what other nation—what ten other nations—could say their savings certificates in the period ending last March totaled £52,000,000, representing £41,000,000 gold.

"The total saved that way reached £486,000,000. People who think this country is down and out are living in a fool's paradise."

MURDER MYSTERY ON TALKIE REEL AT THE COLISEUM

Elmer Rice's much talked of story "On Trial" is the feature screen attraction at the Coliseum Theatre for the last time to-night. To-morrow the bill will be changed.

The picture is one of the popular murder mysteries so frequently introduced since the talkies came into being. It is an excellent photoplay and one that has been highly recommended by motion picture critics in the larger cities. A splendid cast plays in the picture, among the well-known players having roles being Pauline Frederick, who gives a superb performance. Lois Wilson, also has one of the leading roles, while a specially chosen cast of extras helps the leading players.

An uproariously funny comedy picture and several shots of world news complete a most entertaining bill. The feature picture will be shown for the last time to-night at 7 o'clock and 9 o'clock.

One of the best laughs in Rod La Rocque's picture, "Love Over Night," which is now showing at the Columbia Theatre, where Tom Kennedy takes a ducking on the mud flats in pursuit of the lovely La Rocque and Jeanette Loff. The scene, which was staged by Director Edward Griffith, fully matches the earlier comicality in the picture when Kennedy smashes his iron derby in wrath over the wedding kidnapping and Rod escapes with the "bride of the day" tucked under his arm. This fine Pathe feature comedy was directed by E. H. Griffith. Mary Carr and Richard Tucker are in the cast.

FILM CELEBRITIES FOOLED HOLLYWOOD CAFÉ AUDIENCES

Out-of-town patrons of a noted Hollywood café were given a rare treat by a sextette of film celebrities during the filming of "Hard to Get," the first National Vitaphone picture showing at the Capitol Theatre for the last time to-night.

Dorothy Mackall, the star, Charles Delaney, her leading man; Jack Oakie, Louise Fazenda, Edmund Burns and James Finlayson of the supporting cast of "Hard to Get" did the singing. They formed what was probably the highest-salaried group of songsters who ever warbled in a café. But their audience didn't recognize them, for they were all in burnt cork makeup. It was just a prank devised by Miss Mackall and Mr. Oakie. They had a bet with Director William Beatty that, disguised by the burnt cork, they could "get by" as café singers. The management gave them the chance.

RUTH CHATTERTON USES MAKEUP TO GOOD ADVANTAGE

Sound pictures may revive what has come to be on the screen, the "lost art" of stage makeup. Lionel Barrymore when he directed "Madame X," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's all-talking film version of the noted stage play now playing at the Dominion Theatre, assembled a cast of actors who, practically without exception, all wore makeup disguises, such as are used on the stage, in their roles.

An Ailing CHILD

Are you prepared to render first aid and quick comfort the moment your youngster has an upset of any sort? Could you do the right thing—immediately—though the emergency came without warning—perhaps tonight? Castoria is a mother's standby at such times. There is nothing like it in emergencies, and nothing better for everyday use. For a sudden attack of colic, or the gentle relief of constipation; to allay a feverish condition, or to soothe a fretful baby that can't sleep. This pure vegetable preparation is always ready to ease an ailing youngster. It is just as harmless as the recipe on the wrapper reads. If you see Chas. H. Fletcher's signature, it is genuine Castoria. It is harmless to the smallest infant; doctors will tell you so. You can tell from the recipe on the wrapper how mild it is, and how good for little systems. But continue with Castoria until a child is grown.

MUNICIPALITIES UNION DEBATES VARIED PLANS

B.C. Body Against Merging of Councils, School Boards and Police Commissions

Delegates Hear Hon. N. S. Loughheed at Harrison Hot Springs

Harrison Hot Springs, B.C. Oct. 16.—Major problems facing the provincial as well as municipal governments of British Columbia at this time, are those of financing education and highways, declared Hon. Nels Loughheed, Minister of Public Works, in opening here yesterday afternoon the twenty-sixth annual convention of the Union of British Columbia Municipalities.

Presenting the apologies and best wishes of Hon. S. F. Tolmie, Premier, who was scheduled to open the meeting, the Minister stated the eyes of the Government were on the work of the union at this convention, where policies would be laid down which would go far in deciding its attitude toward municipal affairs.

OUTLAYS GROWING
In replying to the address of welcome of Reeve John McRae of Kent Municipality, Vancouver's acting mayor, Alderman John Bennett, called attention to the rapidly growing expenses of education, hospitals and relief. He voiced appreciation of the work of municipal officers.

Loughheed, in his remarks, pointed to the unusual community of interest between the provincial and municipal administration as a result of the detachment of municipalities throughout British Columbia, which has vast stretches of unorganized territory to bridge.

COST OF EDUCATION
The problem of education and its ever-mounting cost was one that was causing concern of every constituent. Increasingly, the British Columbia Government was giving it serious consideration, hoping assistance in the solution would result from the deliberations of the municipal representatives, Mr. Loughheed said.

HIGHWAY PROBLEMS
Regarding highways, the Minister pointed out that several years ago the municipalities were self-supporting in this regard, having to provide only light vehicular traffic. While twenty years ago there were few through roads, the advent of the automobile brought better access must be given and grants toward this end were made by the Government.

Realizing a better method of highway financing had to be found, the Legislature introduced the system of primary and secondary roads, contributing three-quarters of the cost and construction of the former and one-half the expense of the latter, the municipalities doing the work.

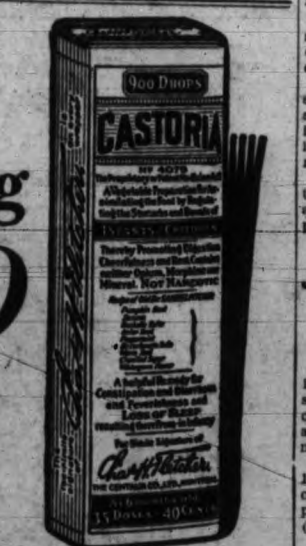

ARTERIAL ROADS
There is an ever-growing feeling this system will not meet the needs of to-day, said Mr. Loughheed. "What in mind, we have been working toward arterial roads, hoping to make them inter-provincial and relieve the municipalities of all cost for such highways. The Government proposes to help along these lines."

He mentioned also that assistance, particularly for hospitals, was being provided out of liquor profits, particularly returned and motor licenses. Old age and mothers' pensions were designed, he said, to reduce relief costs to a considerable extent.

UPPER COUNTRY TOWNS
One particular problem on which the Government looked to the Union for suggestions was that of cities in the upper country whose population had dwindled from the 1,500-mark, which had automatically changed them from municipalities to cities, the Minister stated. Many of these places, he said, were in a sad plight.

Personally Mr. Loughheed said he would like to see more of the Province under municipal control. The Government had great confidence in such administration, so much so that practically all the work of the Province was being done on the screen, as he had been chosen by types, so that their natural appearances would fit the parts.

Ruth Chatterton, who plays the heroine, starts as a young woman and, by means of makeup, portrays five different stages of advancing age in the new picture. Lewis Stone, who plays the husband, also "ages" by means of makeup throughout the action of the play, which covers a period of some twenty years.

Could not Eat or Sleep after Husband's Death

Her husband's death left her very run down in health, unable to eat or sleep much. Now she is brighter in spirits and eats and sleeps well. What caused the difference? Let her answer in her own words:

"I think Kruschen Salts are a splendid tonic. After my husband's death in December last I became very run down in health. Had terrible fits of depression and was unable to eat or sleep much. I was also troubled with rheumatism. I decided to take Kruschen Salts and have now taken the little daily dose for nearly two months, during which time my health has greatly improved. The rheumatism has completely left me. I am much brighter in spirits and both eat and sleep well."

When life begins to "get you down," when you begin to feel the results of modern artificial conditions—errors of diet, worry, overwork, lack of exercise—then you should turn to Kruschen Salts. They possess a wonderful power of giving new life and vitality to the countless millions of cells of which the human body is composed. The way to keep smiling is to take Kruschen Salts every morning—just a pinch in your first morning cup of coffee or tea. (Advt.)

tically no strings were attached to the various grants made. In thanking the Minister for his address, Alderman E. H. Bridgman of North Vancouver, president, stated that as municipal officers were part of the Government and were constantly seeking relief from financial burdens, it behooved them to refrain from carping at the Legislature about measures adopted for their benefit.

He also expressed his appreciation of the work of compilers and municipal clerks, engineers and other officers who carry out the actual work of administration.

SPEED LIMIT
The Union at yesterday afternoon's session, approved the following motion from Oak Bay:

"Whereas, Section 12 of the Motor Vehicle Act (1922 amendment) requires a speed of ten miles an hour in the vicinity of schools, and whereas such requirement is impracticable, rarely observed, and serves to bring the law into contempt, the said officers should be amended to provide a more reasonable speed limit."

NO UNION FAVORED
The Union accepted the resolution from the resolutions committee disapproving of three resolutions sent from Burnaby, Oak Bay and Smithers, all of which favored joining the duties of school boards and police commissioners with those of municipal councils.

Oak Bay, represented by Reeve E. C. Hayward, asked for this rule only for district municipalities.

The motion was passed after considerable discussion.

PER CAPITA GRANTS
The Union approved the following resolution from the Burnaby Council:

"Whereas, the financing of schools is ever increasing the burden on municipalities and cities, and whereas, the municipalities and cities receive no assistance for primary and secondary education with exception of technical education from the Federal Government;

"Resolved, that this convention press the claim of the municipalities and cities for a grant on a per capita basis, and that the sitting members of the various ridings in the Province be memorialized to press this claim for Federal aid for educational purposes."

NO DIFFERENTIAL
The Union declined to approve the Enderby proposal for a differential in the gasoline tax, approved the Matsqui resolution for appeals to County Courts rather than Supreme Courts to save costs and rejected the North Cowichan proposal to increase the taxation of improvements up to 100 per cent.

The North Vancouver proposal for a survey of water powers was recommended.

FOREST PROTECTION
Dealing with preservation of forests within organized districts, subject of a resolution from the Native Sons of British Columbia, the executive will invite members of the organization to meet them in Victoria, when arguments will be heard.

OLD AGE PENSIONS
The Union declined to approve an old age pensions resolution which would have had the convention go on record as favoring (1) reduction of the pensionable age from seventy years to sixty-five years; (2) that the pension be paid irrespective of the pensioner's income, and the estates of deceased pensioners be relieved from contributions to the pension authorities.

MOTHERS' PENSIONS
A motion offered by Burnaby on mothers' pensions and referred to the executive to discuss with the Government at Victoria reads:

"That this convention endorse a resolution requesting the Mothers' Pension Act be amended to make this legislation reciprocal with provinces having similar legislation with a similar reciprocity provision."

A motion approved urges that Section 290 of the Municipal Act be amended to provide for refusing, suspending or canceling of licenses.
